MARKET REVIEW

Successive lockdowns in China prompted by the spread of Omicron and the country's zero-COVID policy, coupled with the Russia-Ukraine conflict, caused further disruption to world trade and international logistics chains during Q1, particularly towards the end of the period.

Sea freight:

While the highly automated Chinese port terminals stayed open, land transport was hampered by bottlenecks caused by the drastic lockdown measures implemented by local authorities.

Furthermore,

- the blank sailing policies pursued by shipping companies in an attempt to maintain an acceptable level of service, and
- the shift of China/Europe rail operations towards sea freight caused further disruption to international logistics chains.

Despite the demand driven by restrictions, operating conditions for sea freight remained challenging in Q1 2022, marked by high freight rates, limited space and extended transit times

Air freight:

Air transport between Asia and Europe was severely impacted by the Russia-Ukraine conflict in two ways:

- flight paths over Russia had to be diverted, and
- Russian airline capacity on the market had to be cancelled due to international sanctions.

Moreover, lockdowns in Shenzhen and Shanghai considerably reduced departure capacity from these two cities, leading to an increase in freight rates.

BUSINESS VOLUMES AND GROSS PROFIT

Despite the ongoing severe disruptions, volumes shipped by the Group continued to increase throughout the period, with:

- sea freight up 5.6% (number of containers) amid a declining market
- air freight up 11.2% (tonnage) amid a flat market

driven by:

- continued strong growth in the Group's core business,
- the energy and commitment of our sales force (7% of Q1 2022 gross profit generated by new clients),
- the use of alternative solutions to offset market shortfalls (use of secondary airports, etc.).

Furthermore,

- the Group posted robust growth in the Europe/North Africa trade business (shipments up 30%) fuelled by market share gains and the acquisition of a new major automotive client.

Gross profit continued to soar (up 45.8%), driven by:

- the volume increase,
- the ramp-up of special operations (project cargo, factory emergency assistance, aircraft chartering, etc.),
- persisting exceptional market conditions.
