

MERSEN SUPPORTS MANUFACTURERS GLOBALLY IN THE TRANSITION TO LOW-CARBON AVIATION

HALL 2B - STAND G138

PARIS, JUNE 12, 2025 - Mersen (Euronext FR0000039620 - MRN), a global expert in electrical power and advanced materials, is pleased to announce its participation in the 55th edition of the Paris Air Show, to be held from June 16 to 22 at Le Bourget Airport.

Among the innovations presented, Mersen will showcase a unique cooling system for power electronics that ensures optimal thermal control, an essential condition for the safety and performance of on-board systems. On the materials front, the Group has developed graphite grades for the next generation of motors, enabling the production of lighter parts that can withstand a wide range of environments, from cryogenic to high temperatures.

Luc Themelin, Chief Executive Officer of Mersen, said: "The Paris Air Show is a major event for the aerospace industry, which represents a growing share of our business. We are excited to be involved, as we are each time the event takes place. As a privileged partner of leading aerospace suppliers, we develop solutions capable of meeting the industry's most stringent requirements. In this way, we are supporting the transition towards a lighter, more efficient and more sustainable aviation sector."

With global manufacturing capacity and an industrial and commercial presence in over 30 countries, Mersen is able to support the programs of its customers anywhere in the world.

Meet us from June 16 to 22: Hall 2B, stand G138
