

EQUIBIOME™ launching A co-developed ingredient with SEPPIC

Plant Advanced Technologies PAT, specialist in identifying and producing rare biomolecules, announces the recent launch of the new active ingredient EQUIBIOME™ by SEPPIC, an Air Liquide Healthcare company, during In-Cosmetics Global 2018.

EQUIBIOME™ is the result of many years of exclusive research collaboration between Plant Advanced Technologies PAT and SEPPIC. This active commercialized by SEPPIC upon its dedicated brand for cosmetic active ethic ingredients named wesource™, is an ingredient that restores the harmony of reactive skin by balancing skin microbiota.

Sourced at the core of the roots of Great Burdock, Arctium lappa, with a non-destructive process PAT plant milking® using aeroponic culture and root optimization, EQUIBIOME™ offers a unique composition with higher content of rare metabolites than classical root extracts.

EQUIBIOME™ comes in addition to the other cosmetic ingredients - exclusive or in collection – already launched and obtained from PAT's research and production greenhouses. This should provide new sales prospects in cosmetics.
