PRESS RELEASE

Infosys Positioned as a Leader in Everest Group PEAK Matrix® Assessments for System Integrator Capabilities 2021 across AWS, Microsoft Azure, and Google Cloud

Infosys Cobalt recognized as a core differentiator among providers for accelerating enterprise cloud journey

Bengaluru, India – April 27, 2021: Infosys (NYSE: INFY), the global leader in next-generation digital services and consulting, today announced that it has been positioned as a Leader in the Everest Group System Integrator Capabilities PEAK Matrix® Assessment 2021 ratings across AWS, Microsoft Azure, and Google Cloud. Through separate ratings, Everest Group recognized Infosys Cobalt as a core market differentiator among system integrators (SIs) across three major hyperscalers. The report also called out that Infosys' integrated Cobalt strategy is resonating well in the market for expanding innovation with the cloud community and securing globally dispersed enterprises.

For the ratings, Everest Group evaluated over 20 leading system integrators based on an objective, data-driven, and comparative assessment of their absolute market success and delivery capability including service focus, IPs and solutions, domain investments, and success stories. Infosys showcased excellence in helping organizations become resilient and undergo swift digital transformation with a range of services and newer business models. Infosys' design thinking approach, joint workshops with clients, and ability to demonstrate a clear transformational roadmap during RFPs were cited as key win themes across AWS engagements. The report also highlighted Infosys' Google specializations on cloud migration and data analytics, as well as expertise in Microsoft Azure services supplemented by marquee wins across all solution areas.

"Public cloud spending is accelerating as the hyperscaler cloud providers AWS, Azure, and GCP help clients drive business transformation. In addition to their vast cloud service offerings, these hyperscalers are also selectively funding clients' transformation initiatives," said Yugal Joshi, Vice President, Everest Group. "Our research indicates 87% of cloud-native builds are happening on these three platforms, which indicates strategic cloud adoption. Therefore, enterprises now will need a different operating model to ensure their public cloud journeys are a success. Infosys has invested in its Cobalt Cloud offerings to leverage experience from earlier cloud programs and IP/assets to help clients in this journey."

“Cloud is the backbone of today’s digital transformation journey that helps enterprises find faster, secure, and more innovative ways to respond to changing market demands. Infosys Cobalt is designed to do just that – provide security, innovation, and speed-to-market that empowers organizations to transform from the core, become responsive, and resilient. Cobalt’s diverse catalog of over 14,000 assets helps businesses leverage the potential of the cloud ecosystem. Additionally, it offers ready access to a growing portfolio of over 200 cloud-first solution blueprints that enable businesses accelerate their speed-to-market, stated Narsimha Rao Mannepalli, Executive Vice President, Head of Cloud & Infrastructure Solutions. “Our leadership positioning by Everest across the 3 major hyperscalers is a great recognition of how Cobalt offers a differentiated proposition in the market.”
