In such cases, based on the information provided by the credit institution or investment service provider holding the account, the dividend payment is made to the individual shareholder without deduction of personal income tax. Pursuant to Section 67/B (6) (c) of the Personal Income Tax Act, the credit institutions and investment service providers shall notify the issuer of the security that no tax liability is incurred in connection with this income. If the securities account holder fails to do so, the dividend will be paid with a deduction of 15% personal income tax.

In case of foreign domiciled private individual shareholders, the payer will deduct the tax under the international convention regulating the avoidance of double taxation from the shareholders who submit all the documents detailed in Annex 7 to the Act on Income Tax no later than 26 June 2025 to KELER Zrt. The declaration of beneficial ownership can of course also be made in Hungarian.

In case the certificate of residence is not received by KELER Zrt. by 26 June 2025, the dividend will be transferred with a 15% personal income tax deduction. If the foreign domiciled private individual shareholder has the documents detailed in Annex 7 of the Income Tax Act and there is a double taxation convention between the two countries providing for a reduced tax rate, the shareholder does not submit the documents to KELER Zrt. by 26 June 2025, and therefore the dividend has been transferred to the shareholder with a 15% personal income tax deduction, the shareholder can claim a tax reimbursement for the difference between the 15% and the reduced tax rate by submitting a certificate of residence and the payer's certificate to the Hungarian National Tax and Customs Authority, pursuant to Section 4 of Annex 7 of the Income Tax Act. The tax authority transfers the excess tax to the payment account specified by the foreign individual.

In the absence of an international treaty, the dividends shall be paid after deducting personal income tax of 15%.

Reporting obligations of securities account managers:

The account managers shall provide the data of shareholders to KELER Zrt. at the time of the shareholder identification in accordance with the rules of procedures specified by KELER Zrt. Shareholder proxies (nominee)

Dividends are also paid to nominees as defined in the Act CXX of 2001 on the Capital Market based on the shareholder identification ordered for this purpose. As a general rule, dividends will be paid to nominees after deducting personal income tax of 15%.

If the securities account manager of the shareholder proxy (nominee) specifies in the course of the shareholder identification the number of shares held by private individual shareholders and the number of shares held by legal entities (not individual shareholders) from the total number of shares represented by the nominee, then the dividends will be paid by application of the relevant tax rate. No tax will be deducted from the dividend payable on shares held by legal entity shareholders. In the case of shares held by private individual shareholders personal income tax of 15% shall be deducted from the dividends payable. If the shares represented by the nominee are owned by foreign domiciled individual shareholders who wish to receive the dividend at a reduced tax rate, those shareholders must be reported separately in the shareholder identification and the instructions in the above-mentioned paragraph beginning "foreign domiciled individual shareholders" should be followed. If the shares represented by the nominee are owned by domestic private individual shareholders, the data of the individual shareholder (surname, first name, date of birth, tax identification number, address) is required. Without the necessary data of the domestic private individual shareholder, the dividends shall not be paid.

Shareholder proxies (nominees) should note that the Company will deduct and declare tax based on the information provided in the shareholder identification process and according to the applicable legislation. Since the taxation of dividends paid to legal entities and private individuals differs, any damage (e.g. tax consequences) resulting from incorrect information provided by the shareholder proxies (nominee) are borne by the nominee.
