Slatina, 25 November 2020 – ALRO S.A. (BVB: ALR, "the Company" or "ALRO"), one of the largest vertically integrated aluminium producers in Europe, measured by production capacity, continues to support the efforts to prevent and combat the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic in the local communities where it operates and donates seven pieces of vital equipment necessary to fight against COVID-19 deadly effects. Thus, five integrated oxygen flow and aerosol treatment devices worth RON 122,500 were donated to the Slatina County Emergency Hospital and another two similar devices worth RON 49,000 to the Municipal Hospital Caracal, for treating patients affected by this virus.

“We have always focused our attention on the health and safety of our employees and today, more than ever, the health of our employees, their families and relatives and in fact, the entire community became our number one priority as we are part of it”, said Gheorghe DOBRA, CEO of ALRO. “ALRO was and will continue to be a pillar of the society, offering the instruments needed by the medical staff to support their efforts when doing their best saving the patients’ lives affected by COVID-19, thus reaffirming its commitment and involvement to contribute back to the community”, added Gheorghe DOBRA.

ALRO has supported the local communities since the early stages of the sanitary crisis and has donated over RON 650,000 to institutions and organizations involved in preventing and combating the effects of COVID-19. Through donations done consisting of money and protective equipment, the Company has actively initiated and supported the actions and efforts aimed at preventing and mitigating the effects of COVID-19 at the local and national levels. Moreover, internally, as well as at suppliers, partners and local communities’ levels, the Company continues to monitor the evolution of this sanitary crisis and engages to act quickly and efficiently to ensure its business continuity in safe conditions.
