Rising geopolitical risk fuels inflationary pressures via energy markets

Geopolitical shocks add renewed momentum to inflation

- Geopolitical tensions in the Middle East triggered a sharp rise in oil and natural gas prices amid concerns over energy supply disruptions and shipping through the Strait of Hormuz.
- The escalation was also reflected in a steep increase in the Geopolitical Risk (GPR) Index, mirroring levels observed following Russia's invasion of Ukraine.
- Although the mid-June US-Iran agreement helped energy prices retreat towards pre-conflict levels, renewed flare-ups have partially reversed this trend.
- The recent surge in the GPR Index has coincided with a sharp rise in consumer inflation expectations in Greece, underscoring the sensitivity of inflation sentiment to geopolitical developments.

Energy costs put upward pressures on HICP

- Higher energy prices drove up energy inflation, as well as the general price level.
- In Q2 2026 headline HICP averaged 4.5% y-o-y, while its energy component rose by 18.8% y-o-y.
- HICP in Greece decelerated to 3.9% y-o-y in June, from 4.9% y-o-y in May. Services inflation continues to be the main contributor to inflationary pressures.
- Inflation forecasts for 2026 were revised upwards by almost 1.5pps, currently standing at around 4%, with the balance of risks remaining tilted on the upside.

Sources: European Commission, Eurostat, Caldara & Iacoviello Geopolitical Risk (GPR) Index: measures global geopolitical tensions by tracking the frequency of newspaper articles related to wars, terrorist acts, military tensions and other adverse geopolitical events.

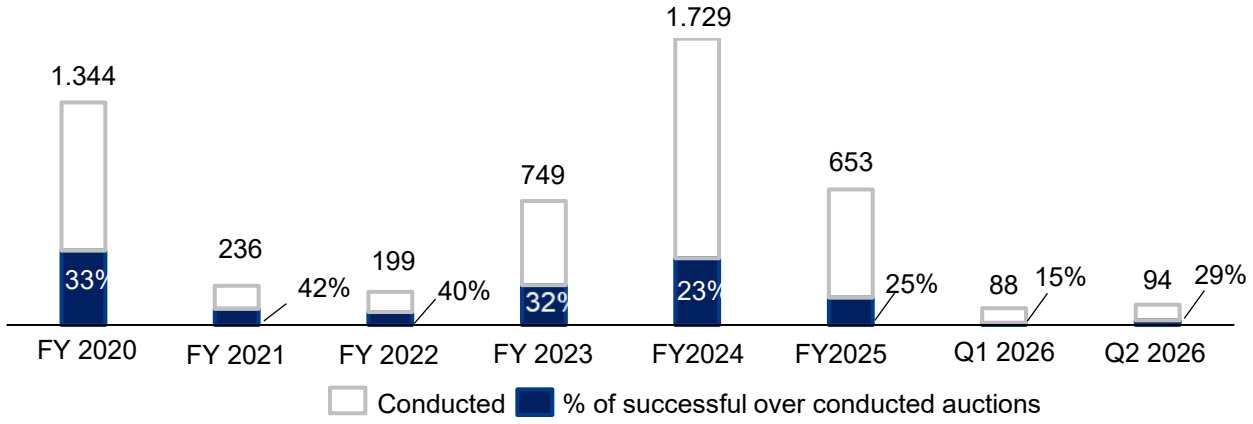
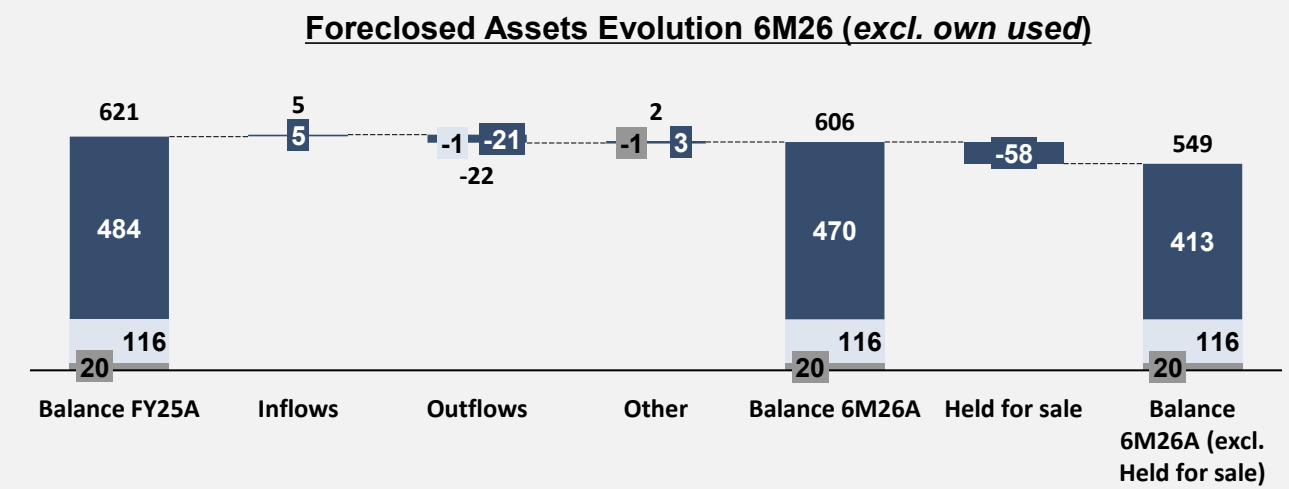
Auctions and repossession activity evolution

Auctioned properties (Conducted) 2Q2026





Note [1]: Including €7mn equity participation

- The auction activity continues to exhibit a downward trend. During 2Q2026, the volume of conducted auctions remained low, which is reasonable, given the historically low levels of auction activity typically observed in the second quarter. A substantial number of auctions were unsuccessful, primarily due to the lack of bidders.

- During H1 2026, the Bank continued with its disinvestment strategy through the completion of €21mn foreclosed assets sales in Greece (including €11mn Skyline perimeter) and €1mn in Cyprus. Sales in Greece included both commercial as well as residential assets.
