Alfa Laval wins record air heat exchanger order in Brazil, value SEK 60 million

Alfa Laval – a world leader in heat transfer, centrifugal separation and fluid handling – has won an order for air heat exchangers used in diesel engine cooling systems in power plants in Brazil. The customer is Wärtsilä, who is a leading provider of power solutions for ships and power plants. The order value is about SEK 60 million. Delivery is mainly scheduled for 2008.

“This is of course encouraging. We finalized the acquisition of Fincoil in December and now they deliver our biggest order ever on air heat exchangers. That is what I call good timing, says Lars Renström, CEO and President of the Alfa Laval Group. “Moreover, our investment in the manufacturing plant air heat exchanger in Finland will increase the production capacity with about 20 percent”.

Did you know that the above mentioned air heat exchangers will be used in top peak power plants in Brazil? This means that they will operate in a stand-by mode and with short notice be able to switch over to base load operation during energy consumption peaks.

About Alfa Laval

Alfa Laval is a leading global provider of specialized products and engineering solutions based on its key technologies of heat transfer, separation and fluid handling.

The company's equipment, systems and services are dedicated to assisting customers in optimizing the performance of their processes. The solutions help them to heat, cool, separate and transport products in industries that produce food and beverages, chemicals and petrochemicals, pharmaceuticals, starch, sugar and ethanol.
