Alfa Laval wins SEK 85 million edible oil order in Indonesia

Alfa Laval – a world leader in heat transfer, centrifugal separation and fluid handling – has won an order to supply engineering and equipment to an edible oil company in Indonesia. The order value is approximately SEK 85 million and delivery is scheduled for 2012.

Alfa Laval will supply engineering and also equipment for two new refining production units as well as equipment to increase the capacity of two existing units. When completed they will be amongst the largest edible oil production plant in the world.

“We have seen a very strong growth in edible oil investments, especially in the fast-growing countries”, says Lars Renström, President and CEO of the Alfa Laval Group. “The order also confirms our strong position as a solution provider for the edible oil industry.”

Did you know... that the increased living standard drives the demand for edible oils, and that the worldwide demand has grown at an average annual rate of approximately 6 percent over the past decade?
