

Lindab receives an important order for chilled beams in Australia

Lindab's Comfort division has, along with its business partner Frenger Systems Ltd, received an important order valued at approximately EUR 1 million.

The order comprises Plexus active chilled beams to be supplied to the landmark Edmund Barton Building in Canberra. Following its refurbishment, the building will accommodate 2,000 staff from the Australian Federal Police.

"We are very pleased for our products to be chosen for such a large and prestigious project," says Fredrik Engdahl, Product Area Manager, Comfort. The Plexus chilled beam from Lindab features a unique 360° air diffusion pattern with the added advantage of being small yet powerful. These are key factors when the space and air supply are limited, as is usually the case for existing buildings."

The main part of the order will be delivered during 2008.
