TeliaSonera grants Corporate Responsibility prize to a Lithuanian school

Yesterday, TeliaSonera gave a prize of 20,000 LTL (about 56,000 SEK) to Vilnius-based Užupis Upper Secondary School as part of the Destination Home project. The project aims at encouraging Lithuanian emigrants to return home. The school was granted the prize for active contribution and engagement in these efforts.

“22 organizations and private persons took part in the competition, and the prize committee found it very difficult to choose only one winner. The students of Užupis Upper Secondary School showed originality and creativity”, says Kenneth Karlberg, President of Mobility Services at TeliaSonera.

Užupis Upper Secondary School launched the “Return to Lithuania” project in March this year to celebrate Lithuanian independence. Around 200 pupils wrote a huge number of letters to Lithuanian emigrants about why they should return to Lithuania and live there. The plan is to send the letters to different emigrant groups in several countries.

“We are very happy for the prize. With the economic support of TeliaSonera, we are now also able to expand the project. We are planning for example to make a film in which our students encourage emigrants to return home”, says Vladas Malcevičius, headmaster of Vilnius Užupis Upper Secondary School.

Project Destination Home has even been recognized by the Lithuanian Television in its annual nominations of companies and organizations that have in different ways contributed to improve the quality of life in Lithuania. TeliaSonera was nominated in the category “Modern and Responsible Efforts”.

“Through Destination Home, we wanted to shed light on the social and economic problems caused by massive emigration and offer concrete help in solving the problems. I believe that the increased social and media attention to these questions proves that we have reached our goal”, says Kenneth Karlberg.

This prize is the second part of TeliaSonera's Destination Home project. The first time, TeliaSonera awarded Dr Daumantas Matulis, who on his own initiative returned
