Nederman signs contract with City of New York

Nederman USA has signed a five year contract with the Fire Department of the City of New York for the repair, upgrade, relocation and installation service of exhaust extraction equipment in fire stations. The contract is valued at MSEK 25.

New York City chose Nederman USA as the supplier of the installation service and upgrade since they could provide the most cost effective solution for the fire stations.

Sven Kristensson, Nederman's CEO says: "The City of New York awarded Nederman this contract after a sealed bid process where each bidder had to undergo a strict evaluation, providing proof of fiscal responsibility, organization strength and ability to perform to contract terms."

The Fire Department of the City of New York has around 250 fire stations through out the city responding to over 1 million registered emergency calls per year.
