SALE OF FIJIAN ASSETS OF EMPEROR MINES LIMITED

Emperor Mines Limited ("Emperor") (ASX:EMP) announces that it is in the process of finalising an agreement for the sale of its Fijian assets, including the Vatukoula mine, with Westech International Limited ("Westech"), a private company incorporated in Australia.

Emperor proposes to sell 100% of its shares in the Australian companies which hold its Fijian interests. The intention is that all assets and liabilities of the Fijian operations will be transferred to Westech with immediate effect.

The sale will mark the end of Emperor's association with the Vatukoula operation, and should allow management to concentrate on the restructure process announced earlier this year.

Emperor has been in discussion with Westech and the Interim Government of the Republic of Fiji, to provide joint social and environmental assistance to the Vatukoula community, and to lessen any impact arising from the cessation of mining at Vatukoula in December last year. Emperor has been informed that the Interim Cabinet of the Republic of Fiji, after extensive consultation with the parties, has agreed to support the sale process.
