Semcon appoints new country manager for the German market

Semcon appoints Henry Kohlstruck as new country manager for the German business.

Henry joins Semcon from the German development company Edag, where he's held a number of senior positions since 1998, mainly in sales, but also as project manager for complete major vehicle projects. He was most recently the deputy CEO and responsible for the product/production development division. He will join Semcon on 1 March 2010.

"I'm convinced that we'll strengthen and develop Semcon's position as a lead supplier on the important German automotive market with Henry Kohlstruck in charge," says Kjell Nilsson, Semcon's president and CEO. "He has extensive experience and a strong network after many years with many different senior positions in the automotive industry in Germany," Kjell Nilsson concludes.
