MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

In November, Chinese markets suffered what we think will be a short-term correction. There were a number of reasons for investors to lock in some profits, apart from the approaching holiday season and year-end. We have seen a big increase in equity supply, in the form of IPOs and placements. Presidential electoral politics also played a role in both the US, where the administration decided to protect the US bra and TV industries from the ravages of Chinese competition, and in Taiwan, where the introduction of a referendum law backfired on the ruling party. However, our recent company visits (your managers met 80 management teams in November) indicate no slowdown in corporate growth. The main concern, at least from down-stream industries, is increasing input costs. There are some 'hot' industries that face the prospect of overcapacity, such as autos, steel and high-end property. But it will take time for the investment decisions made this year to be turned into new productive facilities, and your Fund's portfolio is duly cautious on these sectors.

Trade numbers continue to be strong - embarrassingly so for the authorities, who are struggling to hold down the currency. Exports, boosted ahead of the approaching cut in VAT rebates, rose by 36.7% in October, and imports by 39.7%, for an impressive monthly export surplus of US$5.7bn. This takes total foreign exchange reserves to over US$400bn.

There were encouraging noises from government about continued reform of the state-owned sector. According to Li Rongrong, chairman of the state-owned Assets Supervision and Administration Commission: "There is still a bulk of enterprises that need to be closed down. We will work hard over the next five years to make those enterprises that are qualified for closure and bankruptcy, including mines which are depleted, quit the market."

The limit on foreign ownership of Chinese banks is likely to be lifted to 20%. Amongst the steady flow of news regarding Sino-foreign tie-ups, one of the more imaginative is the announced merger between the TV operations of TCL and Thomson; TCL brings low-cost manufacturing and a high market share in China, Thomson brings brand names and market shares in the US (RCA) and Europe. TCL is one of the larger holdings in our portfolio.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

Your Fund is 91.7% invested with holdings in 54 companies, of which 2 are unlisted. Following our financial year-end on 31 October, we have raised cash in anticipation of the dividend to be paid out in January. To do this, we have taken profits on some of larger positions, such as Sohu, Chinadotcom and Anhui Conch Cement.

When looking for new investments, we are concentrating on companies that focus on domestic sales, rather than exporters. We are particularly attracted to companies that will benefit from a pick-up in the rural economy, on the back of the new Rural Contract Law, as well as rising food prices. We are also finding value amongst Taiwan-listed China plays. During our visit to South Taiwan last week, it was difficult to arrange meetings as the senior managers were away, travelling on the mainland! It is clear where the bosses of corporate Taiwan are putting their money. As Damon Runyon said: "It may be that the race is not always to the swift, nor the battle to the strong - but that is the way to bet."

DIRECT INVESTMENT MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

The Direct Investment market in the PRC is beginning to become more active. Higher than anticipated growth and profitability is increasing the confidence of business managers to raise capital rather than merely testing market interest on a contingency basis. The buoyant equity and credit markets while increasing competition for new deals, are leading to favorable opportunities to exit and realize value for existing investments.

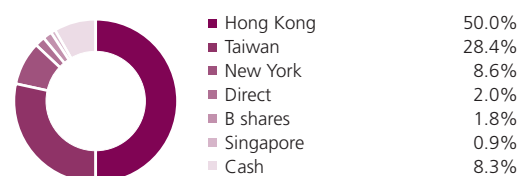

Our new deal origination focuses on established companies requiring expansion finance to fund a proven business model. Such companies can generate profit rapidly from incremental investment and are in a position to realize value, via IPO or other mechanisms, in a relatively short time.

OBJECTIVE

The investment objective of the Fund is to achieve long term capital appreciation through investment in companies and other entities with significant assets, investments, production activities, trading or other business interests in China or which derive a significant part of their revenue from China.

The Board of Directors of the Fund has adopted an operating policy of the Fund, effective June 30, 2001, that the Fund will invest at least 80% of its assets in China companies. For this purpose, "China companies" are (i) companies for which the principal securities trading market is in China; (ii) companies for which the principal securities trading market is outside of China or in companies organised outside of China, that in both cases derive at least 50% of their revenues from goods or services sold or produced, or have a least 50% of their assets in China; and (iii) companies organized in China. Under the policy, China will mean the People's Republic of China, including Hong Kong, and Taiwan. The Fund will provide its stockholders with at least 60 days' prior notice of any change to the policy described above.

The fundamental policy, which applies to not less than 65% of the Fund's assets as set out in the Fund's prospectus dated July 10, 1992, remains in place. The fundamental policy is the same as the operating policy set out above, except that China only includes the People's Republic of China.
