Tivoli, 29 October 2012

Stock Exchange Announcement no. 12 – 2012 Attendance Halloween in Tivoli

Tivoli announces attendance after each of the three seasons as well as in the annual and interim reports.

Halloween in Tivoli lasted from 10.-28 October, in all 19 days (incl. two soft openings). Halloween in Tivoli 2011 lasted 12 days (incl. soft openings).

Attendance	2011	2012
Halloween in Tivoli	301.000	418.243

Successful extra week and scary theme

"Attendance for the season this year ended with 418.243 compared to 301.000 in 2011. This is very satisfactory, and shows that the decision to extend the season with an extra week was sound. The scary evening theme also contributed to the increase in attendance. There is no doubt that Halloween in Tivoli will continue developing in that direction, with the daytime targeted at younger children and the evenings at teenagers and young adults," says CEO Lars Liebst.

Christmas in Tivoli opens 16 November with a new Nordic area alongside last year's successful Russian area. 22 November Tivoli's new Nutcracker production opens.

Attendance for Christmas in Tivoli will be announced 2 January 2013.
