IDEX

The biometric identification industry is in explosive growth across a broad range of sectors from Fintech to the Internet of Things, driven by increasing threats of cyber crime, tightening privacy regulation and convenience of use.

We at IDEX have built a deep understanding of these market needs, and we'd like to share with you why we think they create huge opportunities for our unique biometric technologies. We believe our flexible and low cost biometric solutions are well positioned to capture the second wave of biometric adoption.

Come and hear this story from industry experts and our executive team, and see live demonstrations of our latest breakthrough products.
