

Election to governing bodies of Norske Skog

Today, Norske Skog elected representatives to the board of directors and the corporate assembly.

The Norske Skog corporate assembly consists of 18 members, six of which are chosen amongst and elected by the employees. The board of directors has ten members, three of which are chosen amongst and elected by the employees. It is the general meeting which elects representatives to the corporate assembly. The corporate assembly constitutes itself, and it also elects members to the board. Employee representatives to the corporate assembly are not up for election in 2010.

Following today's elections, the governing bodies of Norske Skog have the following members:
