Oslo Axess / NSX Announcement

African Petroleum Corporation Limited
("African Petroleum Corporation" or the "Company")

Board Restructure

African Petroleum Corporation announces that Non-Executive Director Mr James Smith has tendered his resignation from the Board of Directors, taking effect from 1 August 2014. Mr Smith's decision to leave the Board of African Petroleum Corporation will allow him to focus his attention more fully on other business opportunities he is involved in.

The Company further announces that Mr Mark Ashurst is assuming the position of Non-Executive Director of the Board, stepping down from his role as Executive Director.

Charles Matthews, Chairman of the Board, commented: "I would like to thank James Smith for his contribution over the past four years as a Director, and more recently for helping lay the foundations for the next phase of growth and development for the business. We wish him every success in the future.

Mark Ashurst's continued involvement in African Petroleum Corporation is a great asset to the Company; Mark has been and will continue to be a key member of the Board.

After achieving a number of significant milestones in the first half of 2014, African Petroleum Corporation is in a good position to continue its growth and development in line with its revised strategy announced in February 2014."

The Company will continue its activities with a highly respected and experienced Board of Directors:

About African Petroleum Corporation

African Petroleum Corporation is a dynamic, independent oil and gas exploration company operating eight licences in four countries offshore West Africa. The Company's assets are located in fast-emerging hydrocarbon basins, principally the West African Transform Margin, where several discoveries have been made in recent years, including African Petroleum Corporation's Narina-1 discovery in February 2012, which proved a working hydrocarbon system in the Liberian basin. With a combined net acreage position of 28,295km² through its licences in Côte d'Ivoire, Liberia, Senegal and Sierra Leone, the Company has matured its portfolio rapidly, acquiring more than 15,000km² of 3D seismic data and successfully drilling three wells, one of which was the first hydrocarbons discovery in the offshore Liberian deep-water basin.
