Technology company IAI industrial systems will supply passport personalisation systems to Ireland

Technology company IAI industrial systems B.V. in Veldhoven, The Netherlands, a subsidiary of the stock listed company DOCDATA N.V. in Waalwijk, The Netherlands, will supply two BookMaster One systems for the personalisation of passports to Ireland. The systems will be supplied to the Irish Passport Office in Dublin, Ireland, and are expected to be delivered in the second quarter of 2014.

BookMaster One systems perform the entire personalisation of the passport in one pass through the machine including verification of all operations performed. Thus, the systems turn blank books, inserted in the machine, into fully personalised passports ready for issuing.

Being a leading equipment supplier to the Security Printing market, IAI industrial systems also supplies systems for securing and/or personalisation of ID-cards, driver licences, banknotes, diplomas and other security documents.

IAI's systems are in use in many countries such as: Netherlands, Belgium, Switzerland, Ireland, UK, Sweden, China, Russia, Ukraine, Canada, Portugal, Estonia, Costa Rica, Poland, Morocco, South Africa, Bulgaria, Algeria, India, Uzbekistan and Thailand.

Technology company IAI industrial systems also offers laser processing systems for special industrial applications.
