

Envipco's US Subsidiary Announces Major RVM Supply and Service Contract

Environmental Products Corporation, a wholly owned US subsidiary of Envipco Holding N.V. (EHNV), a public company listed on the NYSE Euronext Brussels (Symbol: ENVI) and a leading provider of recycling systems and solutions to the beverage and retail industries, announces the exclusive award of a new Reverse Vending Machine "RVM" supply and service agreement. The award by a leading Northeast grocery retail chain covers 600 RVMs under a five-year lease term. The retailer will be installing our latest Ultra 48 technology platform in all stores.

This new contract represents a significant endorsement of our latest technology platform and market leading reputation for superior service. The total additional revenues arising from this contract and related services are estimated to be several million US dollars per annum during the five-year period; it will also improve our overall contribution margins. The installations are expected to start in May 2015.

Bob Lincoln, the President of Environmental Products Corporation stated "with the introduction of Envipco's newest technology and award of this latest contract, we continue our mission to redefine the industry by providing the best technology and service possible. We are thrilled to add this relationship to our growing family of major grocery retailers as we continue our ambitions to become the leading RVM supplier in the US deposit markets."
