

Qurius takes minority participation in iNovasion B.V.

October 2, 2007 – Qurius takes a 20% participation in iNovasion B.V. located in Nijmegen. iNovasion is a consultancy company focusing on consulting services and implementation of business intelligence and performance management solutions. iNovasion is a partnership of currently 4 professionals. Each partner has more than 10 years of experience in realising business intelligence and performance management systems at large (inter)national enterprises. This partnership takes place via Qurius Advanced Solutions, with its registered office in Rijswijk.

“With the introduction of Microsoft PerformancePoint Server 2007 we expect a strong increase in the number of business intelligence and performance management projects. Such projects require conceptual, functional and technical competence. Through this participation in iNovasion, we also ensure access to the conceptual and functional expertise” said Frank van der Woude, member of the board of management and managing director of Qurius NL.

“One of the biggest changes for information workers is the possibility to collaborate in an easy and inexpensive way via solutions like Microsoft’s SharePoint and PerformancePoint. This partnership with Qurius is important for our clients, as we can offer and realise a complete information infrastructure to manage their business with actionable information” according to Marco van der Kooij cofounder of iNovasion.
