

Qurius starts managed hosting assignment at Land van Horne

04 September 2008 – Land van Horne, one of the largest care institutions in the south of the Netherlands, has selected Qurius to realise and manage their infrastructure. The complete server environment and IT-platform will be hosted in the Qurius hosting centre and will serve 1,400 users. Parties have signed a contract for a period of 5 years. In this high level and long term managed services assignment, the various business lines of Qurius work together in one of the company's strategic growth areas of health care.

Reliable care for 1,400 users

In order to streamline and optimise all administrative processes and thus be able to serve its clients better, Land van Horne is striving towards an integrated information system, based on the Qurius Q-Care solution. The hosted application includes Microsoft Dynamics, SQL Server, Exchange and Office.

Mr G. Peijs, General Manager Land van Horne: "We want our information and administration system to be accessible and available from every location for all our employees. Qurius offers us the integrated solution, hosting and technical application support and management we are looking for and is a reliable partner with extensive experience in our market. We are confident that our IT-system is well taken care of, which helps us to take better care of our clients."

Qurius in the care sector

The health care sector is one of the strategic priority markets for Qurius where the company sees growth opportunities for its distinctive IT-solution, Q-Zorg (Q-Care), in combination with Managed Services and Infrastructure Solutions. Frank van der Woude, Director Qurius the Netherlands: "The assignment from Land van Horne illustrates our exceptional position in the Microsoft Dynamics market. Through our different business lines, Qurius can be a full service IT-partner that supports the complete life cycle of our customers' IT-systems."
