TKH acquires Alpatronics
Further boost for security and care systems

TKH announces that it has reached agreement on the acquisition of Alpatronics BV in Nijkerk. Alpatronics develops, produces and distributes high-quality technical solutions in the field of security and care systems.

Alpatronics has its own development and production facilities, which enables the company to deliver customer-specific products and projects. The Alpatronics security and care solutions are technically high-level products, such as (wireless) alarm systems, control panels, IP transceivers, receiver equipment for the receiver room and a varied range of care-related products.

The acquisition of Alpatronics is in line with TKH's objective of further expanding the share of security solutions in its overall turnover to 20%. The move also strengthens the product portfolio for care solutions through the acquisition of in-house technology.

Alpatronics has 22 employees (FTEs) and realises annual turnover of € 6 million. The Alpatronics activities will become part of the TKH security cluster, which is part of the Building Solutions business segment.

The acquisition of Alpatronics will make a positive contribution to TKH's earnings per share as of the third quarter of 2010. The acquisition will be financed from existing resources.
