PRESS RELEASE

ZN Comms Services awarded multi-year contract for the FIA Formula E World Championship

The Racing Force Group and Al Kamel Systems joint venture will provide radio communication services for the all-electric racing series

Ronco Scrivia (Genova, Italy), July 16th, 2026 – Zeronoise Communication Services, a company jointly owned by Racing Force Group and Al Kamel Systems, is proud to announce that it has been awarded a multi-year contract by Formula E Operations Limited to supply radio communication services for the FIA Formula E World Championship.

Trackside personnel involved in the world's premier all-electric racing series, including stewards and race control, will use ZN Comms Services equipment, supported by dedicated on-site technical assistance at every event on the calendar starting with Season 13, which will showcase the debut of the high-performing Gen4 cars at new exciting circuits.

Zeronoise Communication Services is a joint venture established to set new standards in radio communications and broadcast technologies for motorsport through the design and development of tailor-made solutions. The project builds on the expertise of Zeronoise, the electronics division of Racing Force Group that, among the others, developed the Driver's Eye™ technology introduced in Formula E in 2020, together with Al Kamel Systems' extensive know-how in delivering services such as live timing, television graphics, network connectivity and race control solutions.

ZN Comms Services started its activity in 2025 with the E1 World Championship, the world's first all-electric powerboat racing championship, and has rapidly expanded its range by working with leading promoters, teams and circuits.

Alex Miotto Haristos, COO of Racing Force Group and CEO of ZN Comms Services

"We are extremely proud to have been selected to support the FIA Formula E World Championship with our communication systems and services. This appointment further validates the momentum behind the ZN Comms Services project. In a remarkably short time, we have been able to collaborate with world-class organizations, culminating in our partnership with Formula E. It provides the ideal platform for us to continue growing and developing increasingly advanced solutions and technologies."

Juan Cáceres, CCO of Al Kamel Systems and COO of ZN Comms Services

"When we founded ZN Comms Services together with Racing Force Group, we had a clear ambition: to set a new standard in motorsport communications through excellence in service and continuous innovation. We already set important milestones, but becoming the communications provider of a FIA World Championship as prestigious as Formula E in less than two years has exceeded even our own expectations. This achievement is a testament to the dedication and expertise of our entire team. We are ready for this challenge, and we have no doubt that this is just the beginning of our journey as we continue to earn the trust of the world's leading motorsport series."
