News Release September 04, 2002

Native Gold Intersected

RJK Explorations Ltd, (TSX Venture Exchange: RJX.A) and GLR Resources Inc., (TSX:GRS) have intersected visible gold mineralization in testing an extensive soil geochemical anomaly at the jointly owned Stares-Calvert property in the Thunder Bay district, northwestern Ontario. The drill bit was burned out, circulation and approximately 5 to 8 feet of core lost - the recovered bit was coated in visible gold. Visible native gold in association with granular quartz was recovered from the encrusted bit. Visible gold coats a fracture on the recovered core. The core on either side of the intersection was altered granite. The hole was one of a series testing an Enzyme Leach soil oxidation geochemical anomaly extending over a circular area 650 metres in diameter surrounded by metallic element anomalies.

The program is being directed by Terence J. Bottrill, P. Eng., as the Qualified Person for GLR Resources. He is a senior geological consultant with over thirty years of experience in both base and precious metals exploration.
