Sirios adds $1.5 million to the treasury after warrant and option exercises

Expanding investor outreach in Q1 by participating in key investor conferences and adding to its distribution network

Montréal (Québec)—January 15, 2026—Sirios Resources Inc. (TSX-V: SOI; OTCQB: SIREF) ("Sirios" or "the Company") has started the year with an infusion of capital, giving the Company additional financial flexibility for enhancing its exploration and investor programs in 2026.

The exercise of 10,209,000 warrants and 1,750,000 options have added $1,516,080 to the treasury and resulted in the issuance of 11,959,000 shares. There are now 397,933,426 common shares outstanding.

"These exercises validate our proposed combination with OVI Mining Corp. and reflect the recent performance of our stock," said Dominique Doucet, Founder and CEO of Sirios Resources. "Our strategy is gaining traction, and investors are noticing. We intend to build on this momentum by expanding our investor outreach this year. Jean-Félix Lepage, who will take over as CEO after the closing of the transaction with OVI Mining, will join me for a series of investor events in the coming weeks."

Sirios to attend key industry conferences in Q1

As part of its continued commitment to enhancing market visibility and shareholder engagement, Sirios will participate in the following investment conferences:

- Vancouver Resource Investment Conference (VRIC) – Vancouver (January 25-26)
