The Settlement remains subject to the approval of the TSX Venture Exchange.

About VanadiumCorp Resource Inc.

VanadiumCorp is a Canadian critical metals exploration company that holds a 100% interest in two mineral properties in Québec: the Iron-T Project and its flagship Lac Doré Project. The Company's strategy combines resource development with technology innovation aimed at supporting the supply of vanadium for applications such as vanadium flow battery electrolyte used in large-scale energy storage systems. In addition to advancing its mineral assets, the Company is developing its proprietary VanadiumCorp Electrochem Process Technology (VEPT), which is intended to extract vanadium, titanium, and potentially iron from vanadiferous titanomagnetite resources.
