

Oculus Announces Alpha Testing of Cloud-DPS

Vancouver, British Columbia, November 18, 2015: Oculus VisionTech Inc. (the “Company” or “Oculus”) (TSX.V: OVT; OTCQB: OVTZ) is pleased to announce the proposed commencement on or before November 30, 2015 of alpha testing of its Cloud-DPS – “Cloud-based Document Protection System”.

The Oculus Cloud-DPS technology is based on protecting documents with an advanced, forensic-grade, invisible watermarking algorithm and then comparing the original protected document with a returned document. If a document has been tampered with, the Cloud-DPS document authentication feature will highlight the tampered locations in the document.

About Oculus

Oculus designs and markets to business customers streaming video content distribution, and Internet Cloud-based digital document protection, based on embedded digital watermarking, as well as video-on-demand (VOD) systems, services and source-to-destination digital media delivery solutions that allow live or recorded digitized and compressed video to be transmitted through Internet, intranet, satellite or wireless connectivity. The Company’s systems, services and delivery solutions include document, still image and motion video digital watermark solutions and documents, photographs (still image) and video content protection.
