Forget-Me-Yes® Completes AWS Technical Review

Vancouver, British Columbia--(September 27, 2021) – Oculus VisionTech Inc. (TSXV: OVT; OTCQB: OVTZ; FSE: USF1), an emerging data compliance innovator, today announced, through its' 100% wholly-owned subsidiary ComplyTrust® Inc (CTI), has successfully completed their Amazon Web Services (AWS) functional-technical-review (FTR) of their Forget-Me-Yes® (FMY) data privacy software-as-a-service platform.

As a required component of the AWS ISV Partner Path journey, an AWS FTR certification ensures security, reliability and operational excellence, while reducing overall operational workload risk for cloud-based applications. The Forget-Me-Yes® (FMY) cloud-native technology stack includes Docker-based, Kafka-enabled micro-service containers and employs a wide variety of AWS services including API Gateway, AWS Cognito, CloudFormation, CloudWatch, EC2, EKS, IAM, KMS, NLB, Route53, Secrets Manager, STS, and more.

"Today's announcement broadens awareness of FMY and enables us to initiate and scale our go-to-marketing strategy with AWS customers and partners", said Michael Johnson, co-founder at ComplyTrust® Inc. "Our cloud-native software architecture and development investment helped us to quickly complete the AWS FTR process paving the way for upcoming participation in the AWS Marketplace eco-system".

The recently released Forget-Me-Yes® data privacy solution, hosted on AWS, offers cost-effective insurance to ensure DSAR deletion-request compliance for California's CCPA/CPRA, Colorado's CPA, Virginia's CDPA, Brazil's LGPD, and Europe's GDPR, data privacy legislation.

This news release contains forward-looking statements and information within the meaning of applicable securities laws (collectively, "forward-looking statements"), including the United States Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. All statements in this news release which are not purely historical are forward-looking statements and include any statements regarding beliefs, plans, expectations or intentions regarding the future. Such forward-looking statements include, among others, statements as to the intended uses of the proceeds received from the Offering. Often, but not always, forward-looking statements can be identified by words such as "pro forma", "plans", "expects", "may", "should", "budget", "schedules", "estimates", "forecasts", "intends", "anticipates", "believes", "potential" or variations of such words including negative variations thereof and phrases that refer to certain actions, events or results that may, could, would, might or will occur or be taken or achieved. Actual results could differ from those projected in any forward-looking statements due to numerous factors including risks and uncertainties relating to, among others, the change of business focus of the management of Oculus, the inability of Oculus to pursue its current business objectives, the ability of the Company to obtain any required governmental, regulatory or stock exchange approvals, permits, consents or authorizations required, including TSXV final acceptance of the Offering and any planned future activities, and obtain the financing required to carry out its planned future activities. Other factors such as general economic, market or business conditions or changes in laws, regulations and policies affecting the Company's industry, may also adversely affect the future results or performance of the Company. These forward-looking statements are made as of the date of this news release and Oculus assumes no obligation to update the forward-looking statements, or to update the reasons why actual results could differ from those projected in these forward-looking statements. Although Oculus believes that the beliefs, plans, expectations and intentions contained in this news release are reasonable, there can be no assurance those beliefs, plans, expectations, or intentions will prove to be accurate.

Investors should consider all of the information set forth herein and should also refer to the risk factors disclosed in Oculus' periodic reports filed from time-to-time with the United States Securities Exchange Commission and Canadian securities regulators.
