Pyng Medical Announces Partial Product Recall

Vancouver, British Columbia. Pyng Medical Corp. (the “Company”) (PYT: TSX.V) announces it initiated a voluntary partial recall related to a setting on its MAT product. A manufacturing error affected about 5%-10% of units in 7 lots. The affected units were not put in the proper “set position” before packaging. This does not relate to a defect in the MAT product and is not a design issue. The recall involves performing a simple inspection of the returned packaged product and sending the unaffected product back to the customer. Pyng’s manufacturer has immediately taken responsibility for correcting the problem.
