

Absolute Software Partners with Latin American Reseller GM Security Technologies

Absolute Software adds Puerto Rican VAR as authorized reseller and installation partner

VANCOUVER, Feb. 24, 2015 /CNW/ - Absolute® Software Corporation (TSX: ABT), the industry standard for persistent endpoint security and management solutions for computers, laptops, tablets and smartphones, today announced an agreement with GM Security Technologies, one of Puerto Rico's largest value added resellers and managed security services providers.

Under this agreement, GM Security Technologies becomes an authorized reseller and certified partner to deliver installation and training services of the Absolute product lines.

This agreement will enable customers of GM Security Technologies to benefit from trusted endpoint security and management solutions, supported by patented Absolute persistence® technology. Among many benefits, the Absolute persistence technology will provide customers with a persistent connection to each endpoint in their deployments, both on and off the corporate network, so that they can remotely manage and secure their devices and the data they contain.

"This partnership reinforces our commitment to expand our presence in Latin America," said David Trotter, Area Vice President, Latin America at Absolute Software. "The opportunity to offer our solutions to GM Security Technologies customers is a key strategic step for both parties."

"We've built our reputation on providing our customers with the very best security and managed security solutions," said Hector G. Martinez, Senior Vice President, Strategy and Development at GM Security Technologies. "With the support of Absolute persistence technology, our customers will be able to reliably connect with and control their endpoints – regardless of user or location."
