5 Full Description of Material Change

Orphan Boy Resources Inc. (the "Company") further to the new release of February 21, 2006 the Company has commenced the helicopter supported airborne EM/ MAG geophysical program on the Company's Goldstream and the Rain property. Both Properties are located near the Company's Permitted Custom 1360mt "Goldstream mill".

The Rain airborne survey, (600 line Km on 100m grid spacing), is expected to outline the contact between the granitic intrusion and the layered country rocks. This intrusive contact is the locus of copper, tungsten and moly skarn mineralization as reported in previous news releases. The airborne EM/MAG survey is also expected to trace the conductive host units and their contained copper-zinc Besshi style VMS lenses.

The Goldstream airborne survey, (120 line Km on 50m grid spacing), will target the predicted continuation of the Goldstream deposit in Brewster canyon, approximately 1.7 km southeast of the open pit. Preliminary geological mapping and prospecting in the canyon in 2004 confirmed the presence of the distinctive Goldstream host stratigraphy.

Orphan Boy Resources Inc. is funded and positioned with advanced exploration properties in an area recognized for its high mineral potential.

The Company has granted 1,550,000 options at $0.25 pursuant to the Company's approved stock option plan.

John Kowalchuk, P. Geo., a Qualified Person as defined by National Instrument 43-101, and verified the technical information in this release.
