"As we reflect on the past year, Great Atlantic Resources continues to make tremendous strides in our exploration activities in New Brunswick. Our 2023 programs yielded exciting discoveries, particularly at our Glenelg and McDougall Road properties. We are waiting for rock sample analytical results for 2024 samples at Glenelg and Keymet and will be undertaking prospecting and rock sampling this fall at McDougall Road and Mascarene.

The Glenelg property has shown promising gold, vanadium, and antimony potential, with recent sampling revealing high-grade antimony and gold mineralization. We're thrilled by the 2024 continuation of prospecting in key target areas, further advancing what we believe to be highly lucrative opportunities.

Additionally, our work at the Keymet Property continues to uncover new gold and base metal targets, with geophysical surveys and rock / soil sampling revealing a 1.5-kilometer long target zone-an encouraging sign for future developments. These advancements, coupled with our ongoing work in other regions, position Great Atlantic for a strong 2024 as we eagerly await results from hundreds of samples collected this past year.

We remain committed to our mission of uncovering Atlantic Canada's rich mineral potential. As we look forward, we are confident that the coming months will bring further confirmation of the immense opportunities in our portfolio, benefiting both our stakeholders and the broader resource sector," states Mr. Anderson - CEO.

We look forward to seeing you at the conference.
