The thrust into one of the great lithium provinces

LIT and Alix acknowledge the challenge of bringing the low-grade giants into production and believe the key to commercialization lies in:

- Low energy process flowsheets, and
- Potential to beneficiate the ore.

The lithium clay deposits present a significant challenge and the application of the best available technology will be key to commercializing these occurrences. The application of advances in exploration techniques will accelerate resource assessment.

Adoption of mineral separation technology form other industries may allow the production of a beneficiated product, to reduce capital and operating costs.

Managing Director, Mr Adrian Griffin*: "At Lithium Australia we recognize the value of innovation in developing process solutions. Our success in developing the Sileach™ process for spodumene is a great example and we strongly believe we can develop a processing strategy to enhance the commercial opportunity provided by processing lithium clays."*

Alix has a 10% revenue interest in technologies developed by LIT with regards to work performed in the joint venture.

Alix Resources is a junior mining exploration company focused on seeking and acquiring lithium projects globally. Alix continues to evaluate suitable prospects that fit the mandate of the Company.
