2. Basis of preparation (continued):

Use of judgments and estimates (continued):

The significant judgments made by management in applying the Company's accounting policies and the key sources of estimation uncertainty were the same as those that applied to the consolidated financial statements as at and for the year ended December 31, 2014.

3. Seasonality of operations:

The Company's business is seasonal in nature with the periods of greatest activity being in the first, third and fourth quarter, and the least activity tending to be in the second quarter because of spring break-up. Spring break-up typically occurs for periods of up to eight weeks between March and June. The Company's operating activities can also be affected by extended periods of adverse weather which can result in restrictions to the movement of heavy equipment. As a result, March through June is traditionally the Company's least active time and as such the operating results of the Company will vary on a quarterly basis.

4. Trade and other receivables:

The Company's accounts receivable are due from customers that operate in the oil and gas exploration and production industry. They are subject to typical industry credit risks that include oil and natural gas price fluctuations and customer's ability to secure appropriate financing.

As at June 30, 2015, five customers accounted for 74% of the Company's accounts receivable (December 31, 2014 – five customers accounted for 43%) while five customers account for 66% and 55% of the revenue for the three and six months ended June 30, 2015 (December 31, 2014 – five customers account for 43%).

8. Property and equipment (continued):

Leased equipment

Property and equipment includes leased assets as the Company leases equipment under a number of finance lease agreements. The leased equipment secures lease obligations. As at June 30, 2015, the net carrying amount of the leased equipment was $8,968 (December 31, 2014: $8,351).

Change in estimate

During the quarter, the Company reviewed the useful lives of certain equipment which resulted in changes in the expected useful lives of coil tubing, nitrogen and cementing equipment. Based on the Company's physical examination of these assets, it was found that due to the Company's preventative maintenance program it was determined that the equipment would last longer than initially estimated. The equipment is now expected to remain in use twice as long as initially estimated.

As a result of the review, the expected useful lives of the equipment increased and its estimated residual value decreased. The effect of these changes on actual and expected depreciation expense is as follows:

^{000's of dollars}	2015	2016	2017	2018	2019	Later
(Decrease) increase in expense	$(1,932)	$(2,950)	$(1,750)	$(1,118)	$(1,038)	$19,721

The impact of the change in estimate for the three months ended June 30, 2015 was $(975).
