CHINA MINERALS PROVIDES UPDATE ON LITIGATION AGAINST PROVINCE OF BC

China Minerals Mining Corporation ("China Minerals" or the "Company") (TSX-V: CMV, US: HWTHF) announces, further to its news release of January 3, 2017, that at a Court hearing on January 4, 2017, the BC Government sought to adjourn the Company's application for document production, and to argue that the judicial review hearing should not proceed on January 17-19, 2017 as planned. In doing so, government lawyers attempted to rely upon the fact that recently (following China Minerals' initiation of litigation) the government had reversed the transfer to a First Nation entity of lands in respect of which China Minerals holds mineral claims.

China Minerals' legal counsel, McMillan LLP, contested the government's positions in Court, and argued that it is important that the Court hear the case as it raises very important issues of how the government intends to treat third party rights.

The Court has now decided to set additional hearing time (January 16-20, 2017) to hear the various motions during the same week that the judicial review itself is scheduled to be heard. In doing so, the Court noted that this case has important implications for the mining industry.

China Minerals is very pleased with this ruling, it looks forward to the hearing later this month, and it remains committed to protecting its long term legal rights and interests.

China Minerals supports reconciliation between the province of BC and aboriginal groups – provided existing third party rights are protected or properly compensated.
