Palladium One Name Change to 'GT Resources Inc.' Complete and Now Trading on The TSXV Under the Symbol "GT"

Toronto, Ontario--(Newsfile Corp. - March 4, 2024) - GT Resources Inc. (TSXV: GT) (OTCQB: NKORF) (FSE: 7N11) (the "Company" or "GT Resources") has successfully rebranded and changed its name from Palladium One Mining Inc. to GT Resources Inc., effective today, Monday, March 4, 2024 (the "Name Change").

Going forward, GT Resources will trade on the TSX-V under the symbol "GT" (formerly "PDM"). The new CUSIP is 36254S105 and new ISIN number is CA36254S1056, but no action is required by any shareholders of the Company. The common shares of the Company continue to trade under the symbols "NKORF" on the OTCQB and "7N11" on the Frankfurt Exchange.

This rebrand is a better representation of the diversified investment exposure that GT Resources provides investors for multiple forms of green transportation, including fully electric vehicles, hybrid electric vehicles, electrical grid infrastructure, and conventional engines. It is also more aligned with the Company's highly curated portfolio of polymetallic mineral properties that primarily target nickel and copper exploration, and secondarily target Platinum Group Elements like palladium and platinum.

The Name Change will not result in a change of business and the Company will continue to operate as resource exploration company.
