Terra Firma to evaluate agriculture, medical, resources and real estate opportunities

Terra Firma Resources Inc. ("TFR" or the "Company") (TFR—TSX Venture) wishes to announce that management will be actively pursuing additional corporate growth drivers. The new areas that will be investigated will potentially include, but will not be limited to, agriculture, medical, resources and real estate. At this time no new project has been contemplated and there is no guarantee that one will be completed.

James Nelson, a director of Terra Firma states, "We are excited about the potential of the current asset in the Company, but in light of the recent activity displayed in the market in general we would be doing a disservice to our shareholders to not investigate other opportunities that may increase shareholders' value. The board welcomes any submissions for evaluation to terrafirmarinfo@gmail.com"
