Lewis Black, Chief Executive Officer of Almonty commented, "These results are not reflective of the go-forward cost structure and production profile of Almonty. We determined it was in the best interest of the company to utilize the low pricing environment and carry out extensive pit development at Los Santos that dramatically reduced production during Q1 2017. The cash flow profile of Panasqueira and Los Santos has stabilized during Q2 2017 with the implementation of fixed price contracts. Production at Los Santos has also begun to return to normalized levels and we anticipate producing over 7,800 MTU in the month of March. With 80% of our production now under fixed priced contracts we have now stepped away from market pricing at this time and this will allow us to strengthen our balance sheet going forward now that we have finished consolidating all of the concentrate producers in the West that we considered viable and unit cost competitive. As demand continues to rise and supply struggles to keep up we are uniquely positioned as the largest Western Tungsten concentrate producer, having grown significantly in an extraordinary low price environment that commenced in July 2015, to remain the dominant Western supplier.”

Our development of the Sandong mine is continuing on schedule and we are excited about the progress we have made to date. We remain on track to fully capture the on-going price rise in the new bull market cycle.

About Almonty

The principal business of Toronto, Canada-based Almonty Industries Inc. is the mining, processing and shipping of tungsten concentrate from its Los Santos Mine in western Spain and its Panasqueira mine in Portugal as well as the refurbishment of its Wolfram Camp Mine in north Queensland, Australia, the development of its Sangdong tungsten mine in Gangwon Province, South Korea and the development of the Valtreixal tin/tungsten project in north western Spain. The Los Santos Mine was acquired by Almonty in September 2011 and is located approximately 50 kilometres from Salamanca in western Spain and produces tungsten concentrate. The Wolfram Camp Mine was acquired by Almonty in September 2014 and is located approximately 130 kilometres west of Cairns in northern Queensland, Australia and has produced tungsten and molybdenum concentrate, although the Wolfram Camp Mine is not currently producing due to ongoing refurbishment of the processing plant. The Panasqueira mine, which has been in production since 1896, is located approximately 260 kilometres northeast of Lisbon, Portugal, was acquired in January 2016 and produces tungsten concentrate. The Sangdong mine, which was historically one of the largest tungsten mines in the world and one of the few long-life, high-grade tungsten deposits outside of China, was acquired in September 2015 through the acquisition of a 100% interest in Woulfe Mining Corp. Almonty owns 100% of the Valtreixal tin-tungsten project in north-western Spain.
