(“Cargojet” or the “Corporation”) (TSX: CJT) proudly announces a scheduled direct air cargo service connecting Canada and expanding into Europe, effective November 1, 2025. The service will link Liege Airport (LGG), Europe’s leading cargo gateway, with Canada’s major cargo hubs.

“Leveraging Cargojet’s industry-leading record of on-time performance and reliability, we are strengthening the ties between Canada and Europe while expanding opportunities for our customers,” said Pauline Dhillon and Jamie Porteous, Co-Chief Executive Officers, in a joint statement. “This service allows Cargojet to be at the centre of transatlantic trade, supporting the forwarder community’s evolving needs with faster transits, reliable service, and enhanced flexibility for shippers across both continents.”

“We are thrilled to welcome Cargojet to Liege Airport, recognized as one of Europe’s very best cargo hubs”, remarks Torsten Wefers, VP Marketing & Sales, Liege Airport. “This partnership represents a major step forward for the LGG community and for Europe–Canada logistics, unlocking new potential and connectivity for our customers and partners.”
