Sekur Private Data Ltd. Signs Distribution Agreement for Portugal, Republic of Ireland and Spain

Partnership will focus primarily on Corporate Clients and Governments

VANCOUVER, BC / ACCESS Newswire / September 9, 2025 / Sekur Private Data Ltd. (OTCQB:SWISF)(CSE:SKUR) (FRA:GDT0) ("Sekur" or the "Company"), a leading Swiss-hosted cybersecurity and private communications platform, is pleased to announce that it has signed a distribution agreement with Taxlibris, Lda., a Portuguese taxation and consultancy company, to promote the Sekur Swiss Hosted Privacy Communications Solutions in Portugal, the Republic of Ireland and Spain.

Taxlibris' targets are corporate entities in Portugal, the Republic of Ireland and Spain. Through Taxlibris, Sekur has a presence in three European countries and a vast network potential of corporate clients for its new Corporate and Premium solutions launching later this month. In addition to corporate clients, Taxlibris is also looking at potential Telecom partners for Sekur.

Cyberattacks targeting wealthy individuals, corporations and government officials have increased exponentially in the last six months alone, specifically Business Email Compromise or "BEC" attacks.

Sekur's platform is proprietary and hosted in Switzerland and offers a set of Communications Suite with countermeasures to these scenarios through its proprietary privacy platform for encrypted email, messaging and VPN for high value clients, such as C-level executives, government officials and global leaders. The platform is proprietary and hosted in Switzerland for optimal security and privacy compliance. It offers multiple privacy advantages, such as no contact or data mining, no location mining and secure and private communication within and outside of the Sekur network, offering privacy and security for both sender and recipient without divulging either phone number or identity, using its SekurSend and Chat by Invite features.

Pedro Teixeira, CEO of Taxlibris stated, "Sekur is a suite of communication applications offering unmatched security and top-tier functionality. With the rapid erosion of privacy driven by the growing proliferation of threats and AI-based applications, organizations face increasing demands for reinforced cybersecurity solutions that ensure operational continuity without disruption. Sekur provides these solutions to both enterprises and governmental organizations. We believe in the strength and integrity of the product and are therefore committed to making every effort to promote it to its intended audience. We trust in this product because we are confident it will deliver real value to our clients."

Alain Ghiai, CEO of Sekur stated, "This new distribution agreement is the beginning of our foray in Europe and we believe Sekur can deliver the solutions to the large cybersecurity problems plaguing European companies. Our expansion through trusted distributors is part of our strategy to increase sales and bring more value to our shareholders. This is a perfect opportunity to increase Sekur's awareness as we are off grid, off big tech and we never data mine or location track your communications. Sekur is meant to protect against phishing, Business Email Compromise attacks, AI hacks, and chat and SMS hacks."

Swiss Privacy Protection

Sekur's solutions are hosted exclusively in Switzerland, ensuring user data remains secure from external data access requests. Switzerland's robust Federal Act on Data Protection, in place since 1993, upholds strict privacy standards, prohibiting unauthorized data processing and protecting against the publication of information based on leaked "secret official discussions." This regulatory framework provides a unique level of data privacy protection, reinforcing Sekur's commitment to safeguarding user information.
