Investment Policy

The healthcare sector is global and accessing this market as a UK investor can be difficult. The Company offers an opportunity to gain exposure to pharmaceutical, biotechnology and related companies in the healthcare sector on a global scale. The Company invests in large companies with market capitalisations of over U.S.$10bn, smaller companies below that size, as well as unquoted companies. The portfolio ranges from large multinational pharmaceutical companies with multiple products to unquoted emerging biotechnology companies. The Company's investment policy allows gearing, through borrowing, of up to 20% of net assets and a net exposure to derivative investments (excluding swaps) of up to 5% of the portfolio. Equity swaps may also be used, counterparty exposure here is limited to 12% of the portfolio at the time of acquisition. Unquoted securities will not exceed 10% of the portfolio at the time of acquisition.

Return vs Volatility (Annualised since Launch Date & appointment of Portfolio Manager) – Chart (%)

DISCOUNT/PREMIUM CONTROL

It is the Board's policy to buy back the Company's shares if the share price discount to the net asset value per share exceeds 6% on an ongoing basis. Shares repurchased are held as treasury shares. Treasury shares can be sold back to the market at a later date at a premium to the cum income net asset value per share. Shareholders should note, however, that it remains very possible for the discount to be greater than 6% for extended periods of time particularly when sentiment towards the Company, the sector and to investment trusts generally remains poor.

While buy backs may prove unable to prevent the discount from widening, they also enhance the net asset value per share for remaining shareholders and go some way to dampening discount volatility which can adversely affect investors' risk adjusted returns.

At times when there are unsatisfied buying orders for the Company's shares in the market, the Company has the ability to issue new shares or to re-issue treasury shares at a small premium to the cum income net asset value per share. This acts as an effective share price premium management tool.

Commentary

In September, the NAV per share total return was -6.3%, the share price total return was -5.6% and the MSCI World Health Care Index was -5.0%, on a net total return, sterling adjusted basis.

The clear hallmark for global equity markets in September was the interest rate cut of 50 basis points by the U.S. Federal Reserve, the first rate reduction since March 2020. Whilst this action boosted broad markets, it left healthcare stocks wanting, resulting in stark underperformance in the period.

Share price declines occurred across all healthcare subsectors in September. The lone exception was China where healthcare stocks rallied more than 20% (sterling; as per the HSHCI) on the heels of a bevy of new economic stimulus packages there, including interest rate cuts, confirmed by President Xi late in the month. The largest individual contributor in September was Vaxcyte as the vaccine maker debuted best-in-class data for the clinical stage pneumococcal vaccine.

The largest detractor in the month was Novo Nordisk. Share price declines were in-line with the large cap peer group early in the month until new data was released mid-month for the company's novel, oral CB-1 antagonist for obesity. Investors were not impressed with the reported weight loss and were concerned about the safety profile – and whilst the company was pleased enough with the results to advance the candidate into further development, the stock continued to sell off into month end. Eli Lilly was also a material detractor, mostly because of sizing within the portfolio as share price declines were only modestly more than the Benchmark. Finally of note were losses attributed to both AstraZeneca and Daiichi Sankyo, partners in the development of Dato-DXd, a novel antibody-drug-conjugate for the treatment of lung cancer. Updated data presented at a medical congress in late September disappointed as efficacy data, whilst positive, was below investor expectations, leaving serious doubt about the approvability of the drug before year end.

Looking ahead, as we approach the last quarter of the calendar year, the looming U.S. Presidential election stands as perhaps the largest catalyst remaining in 2024. However, we would note that regardless of who takes the White House, the remainder of power is likely to be split among Congress. If so, this would lead to status-quo in Washington, making it very difficult if not impossible for any threatening new legislation to pass. We continue to focus on fundamentals, such as clinical and regulatory catalysts for portfolio companies, into year end.
