

Clear Blue Technologies Announces Management Change

TORONTO, June 17, 2019 -- Clear Blue Technologies International Inc. (Clear Blue or "the Company") (TSXV: CBLU) (FRANKFURT: 0YA), the Smart Off-Grid™ company, today announced the departure of Chief Financial Officer, Lawrence Tjan, from the Company. Paul Kania, CPA, will serve as the interim Chief Financial Officer with immediate effect.

Paul is a principal at PLK Accounting & Finance, which provides retainer CFO and board services for publicly listed small-cap companies. He has over 13 years of experience in accounting and finance, having begun his career as an auditor, working for firms such as MNP LLP and Berdon LLP, before moving on to corporate finance at Brookfield Asset Management in New York City. Clear Blue's management believes that his strong expertise in businesses that are similar to Clear Blue will be a valuable resource to the Company.

The Company also announced that independent board member and audit committee chair Hugh Rogers has resigned to enable him to spend more time on another venture. Miriam Tuerk, Clear Blue CEO, said, "Hugh has been a great asset to Clear Blue and we appreciate his contributions to our business. We wish him great success in his new venture."
