GetSwift Announces the Resignation of Bane Hunter and Appointment of Joel Macdonald as Interim CEO

NEW YORK--(BUSINESS WIRE)--February 18, 2022--GetSwift Technologies Limited ("GetSwift" or the "Corporation"; NEO: “GSW”), a leading provider of last mile SaaS logistics technology and services, announced the resignation of its Chief Executive Officer and board member, Bane Hunter. Mr. Hunter joined GetSwift in 2015 and was appointed CEO in 2018. During his tenure, Mr. Hunter successfully spearheaded the company’s growth, product innovation and acquisitions, making GetSwift a truly global concern.

“Bane’s passion for growing GetSwift into a global enterprise was only outmatched by his dedication to the GetSwift team,” said Stanley Pierre-Louis, Chair of the GetSwift Board of Directors, following Mr. Hunter's decision to leave the company. “While the board reluctantly accepts his resignation, we are grateful to Bane for his vision, dedication, and relentless efforts to achieve successful outcomes for the company, its employees and, most importantly, its shareholders. Bane's future will no doubt be filled with successes,” Mr. Pierre-Louis continued.

Mr. Hunter said, “I would like to thank the board of directors, the whole GetSwift team, and especially our founder Joel Macdonald, for their tremendous support and for allowing me to be part of this amazing journey with GetSwift. I am especially proud that we delivered for shareholders as requested – increased revenues, important global partnerships and an evolved product line. I have great confidence in the next phase of GetSwift's growth. I wish nothing but the best for the future of GetSwift,” Mr. Hunter continued.

The board of directors has appointed the company's founder and current President, Joel Macdonald, as Interim CEO, effective immediately. "We are excited about Joel's appointment as CEO of GetSwift. Having founded GetSwift, his imprint has been ever-present, making him the natural choice to lead the company at this time," stated Mr. Pierre-Louis.

"I am enormously proud to take the reigns during this critical period for GetSwift," stated Mr. Macdonald. "GetSwift continues to innovate and grow, always with the best interests of shareholders in mind," he continued. Mr. Macdonald also noted, "I would like to thank Bane for his leadership and friendship during his tenure at GetSwift."
