OUTLOOK AND CONCLUSION

DAVID BROWN

Blast drilling at Vele Colliery

THE COAL MARKET

- International coal prices improved during FY2018
 - significantly lower investment in new coking and thermal coal mines for several years
 - minimal new investment in South Africa with capex spent on maintenance rather than increased production
 - reduced future supply with declining quality will positively impact market prices

Metallurgical coal (HCC)	Thermal coal (API4)
↑ Price: $169/t (July 2017) to $195/t (September 2018)	↑ Price: $69/t (June 2017) peaking $105.82/t (June 2018)
In the short-term prices expected to remain close to current levels	Opportunities exist to supply export and domestic markets
