Chapter I. Letter to Shareholders

I. Forewords:

Looking back on 2025, the bicycle industry has gradually emerged from the shadow of inventory overhang, but amid inflationary pressure, geopolitical tensions, and tariff barriers, demand has not truly recovered. Manufacturers from mainland China and elsewhere, leveraging their cost advantages, have launched fierce price wars in the mid- and low-end markets, significantly squeezing the profit margins of Taiwan's component manufacturers. Meanwhile, as E-bikes have become the main growth driver in the market, many cross-sector companies—such as those from the electronics and automotive industries—have entered the manufacturing and sales arena, reshaping the industry's competitive landscape and profit model.

Looking ahead to 2026, the industry will enter an entirely new competitive framework. The focus of corporate competition will shift from individual manufacturing capabilities to overall “system capabilities,” including product design, supply chain integration, regulatory compliance, data applications, and brand management. At the same time, sustainability has shifted from an added value to a basic threshold, and carbon inventory, supply chain transparency, and human rights standards are rapidly becoming essential conditions for entering international markets. Our company will quickly adjust its operations, continue innovating products, introduce smart manufacturing, deepen the development of our own brand “PROMAX,” and actively pursue orders. In addition, in response to the uncertainty brought by tariffs, we will adjust our production layout and cross-industry collaborations as appropriate, seeking opportunities for transformation and growth amid challenges. Faced with structural changes in the industry, we will navigate the adjustment period steadily and work to return operations to a growth trajectory, creating long-term investment value for all shareholders.

II. Business Results in 2025:

(I) Operating Results:

For the Company's operating performance in 2025, consolidated net operating revenue was NT$2,023,299 thousand, consolidated net loss after tax was NT$138,253 thousand, net loss attributable to owners of the parent was NT$153,992 thousand, and basic loss per share was NT$0.69.

Although the Company's 2025 operations were affected by reduced consumer spending due to global high inflation, slow inventory destocking, and tariff fluctuations, it has achieved substantial results in new product development and cross-industry alliances, including the following:

1. Solid Financial Performance:

As market demand stabilizes and begins to recover, our company is committed to optimizing our product portfolio, increasing the shipment proportion of mid-to-high-end and E-Bike components, improving gross margins, and gradually reversing our loss-making situation.

2. Appropriately allocate production capacity:

In response to tariff barriers triggered by geopolitical tensions, our company has implemented a regionalized production layout, aligned with key customers' requirements, reduced reliance on a single production location, and coordinated with the current inventory adjustment to ensure comprehensive production contingency measures, thereby mitigating the impact of economic fluctuations.

3. Cross-Industry Collaboration Results:

Leveraging its strong R&D expertise and manufacturing capabilities, the Company has secured cross-industry orders in the electronics and automotive components sectors, effectively diversifying the risks associated with fluctuations in the bicycle industry, enhancing technological development, and improving operational prospects while seeking mutually beneficial opportunities for growth.

4. Excellence in Management:

The Company continues to optimize its management systems and improve operational efficiency to offset cost increases brought about by inflation and tariffs, while maintaining stable operating cash flow. It has completed the implementation and ongoing certification of multiple ISO management systems, and continues to enhance its ERP and HR management systems, strengthen organizational communication and quality management, and meet the stringent requirements of the international green supply chain.

5. Promoting ESG Sustainability:

Establishing a Sustainability Development Committee, preparing and issuing an annual sustainability report, completing ISO 14067 product carbon footprint verification, adopting eco-friendly recycled materials such as low-carbon aluminum, promoting low-carbon production processes and waste reduction, implementing energy conservation and increasing the use of renewable energy, strengthening corporate social responsibility and corporate governance, and actively participating in the BAS Sustainability Alliance of the bicycle industry to jointly promote the formulation and implementation of ESG standards for the industry.

(II) 2025 Budget Execution Status:

The Company did not publicly disclose financial forecasts in accordance with regulations. The fiscal year 2025 expense budget was controlled under the principle of frugality, and the actual expense control situation met internal management objectives.

(III) Financial Position and Profitability Analysis:

The Company has a sound financial structure. For fiscal year 2025, based on the consolidated financial statements, the return on assets was -3.14%, return on equity was -3.82%, operating profit as a percentage of paid-in capital was -14.96%, pre-tax profit as a percentage of paid-in capital was -8.60%, net profit margin was -6.83%, and basic loss per share attributable to the parent company was NT0.69.

(IV) Research and Development Status:

We completed the development of 95 new products. The R&D focus for this year was on optimization of existing products and process improvements; therefore, no new patent applications were filed. We received 3 patent certificates.

III. Business Plan Overview for 2026

(I) Expected Sales Volume:

Note: The above figures are the Company's individual data.

(II) The business policies and production and sales strategies for fiscal year 2026 are as follows:

1. “Operational Recovery, Active Order Acquisition”:

The bicycle industry is expected to gradually enter a recovery and growth phase, and market demand is likely to stabilize. As inventories continue to be reduced, the Company will adjust production capacity in a timely manner, strengthen communication with key customers, and set more proactive annual operating targets to secure new orders and prepare for the next wave of growth demand.

2. “Innovative Products, Smart Manufacturing”:

The Company will continue to deepen its cooperative and interdependent relationships with complete bicycle and component brands, jointly develop new products, and establish dedicated production lines. In addition, with the development of AI technology, smart and electric bicycles will become a future trend. The Company is actively embracing this innovation and plans to apply AI technology to product design, production, and sales to improve efficiency and quality.

3. “Brand Marketing, Deepening Repair and Replacement Business”:

Promote the self-owned brand “PROMAX,” drive sales of high value-added products, and work with major distribution channels to capture the vast global repair and aftermarket opportunities. In response to consumer demand, adjust online and offline sales strategies to maintain stable brand revenue in the repair market when demand for complete bicycles is sluggish.

4. “Cross-Industry Collaboration, Active Transformation”:

Make use of the Company’s precision manufacturing and R&D capabilities to actively expand cross-industry cooperation opportunities with sectors such as electronics and transportation. By undertaking high-precision cross-industry product orders, the Company can not only broaden its business outlook beyond the bicycle core business and diversify the risks of fluctuations in a single industry, but also introduce advanced process technologies that can, in turn, improve the production efficiency and profitability of its bicycle core business.

5. “Implement Sustainability, Integrity, and Compliance”:

Pursue stable profitability and long-term operations, continue talent development and employee welfare enhancement, and, under the global net-zero emissions trend, align with the EU CBAM and assist customers and the supply chain in promoting ESG sustainability verification and certification. The Company plans to introduce a human rights due diligence mechanism and the ISO 50001 energy management system in fiscal year 2026, and obtain verification from an external authoritative institution to implement the sustainable transformation of the bicycle industry.

6. “Regional Layout, Flexible Supply”:

Continue evaluating a global regionalized production footprint to reduce dependence on any single market or production base. In line with the needs of core customers, the Company will appropriately adjust production base configurations or acquire suitable targets, using a shorter supply chain to stay closer to end markets and enhance operational resilience against geopolitical risks.

IV. Future Development Strategy and the Impact of the Industry Environment

(I) Future corporate development strategy:

- 1. Parallel Development of Branding and OEM Business: Through a dual-track approach of brand development (PROMAX) and OEM business, the Company aims to raise technical barriers and transform itself from a component manufacturer into an indispensable strategic development partner for leading global bicycle brands. Through innovative R&D of bicycle products, the Company seeks to meet consumer needs and become a leading bicycle component supplier in the industry.
- 2. Continuous Product Innovation, Introduction of New Materials and New Processes: Continue strengthening R&D investment in bicycle component applications, pursue technological leadership, and accelerate the introduction of low-carbon, traceable new materials and advanced manufacturing processes. Expand applications into related products such as electric vehicles, motorcycles, automobiles, and consumer electronics, thereby increasing the share of revenue from new businesses and new markets.
- 3. Integrating Group Resources to Create Manufacturing Advantages: Integrate group resources and optimize the regionalized production footprint to respond to the supply chain restructuring trend under normalized tariffs. Through diversified market deployment, diversify single-industry risk and improve overall gross margin levels.
- 4. Pursuing Stable Profitability and Strengthening Sustainable Operations: Pursue stable company profit growth, improve operating efficiency, and implement digital transformation and AI technology adoption. Continue building talent development mechanisms and a green production system, and treat ESG transformation as a competitive advantage to strengthen sustainable operations in a rapidly changing international environment.

(II) The impact of external competitive conditions, regulatory conditions, and the overall economic environment on the Company:

- Global trade has entered the tariff era, and countries frequently resort to trade protection measures. In particular, structurally high tariffs targeting specific production locations have fundamentally changed the previous globalized optimal production allocation model. This not only drives supply chain restructuring and accelerates the shift toward regionalized and shorter supply chains, but also disperses production bases across different regions.

2. As climate change and environmental carbon reduction concerns intensify, and wars in Ukraine and the Middle East may push up oil prices, bicycles—as zero-emission green transportation alternatives to fuel-powered vehicles—will become an important choice, and demand is expected to continue growing. However, frequent extreme weather events may affect consumers' willingness to ride, resulting in seasonal fluctuations in the bicycle sales market.
3. Due to global climate change, countries are promoting net-zero emissions and carbon neutrality. Green inflation has increased the cost of recycled materials and low-carbon production, which will affect Taiwan's manufacturing-based industries. Ongoing high inflation has also driven up raw material prices, and manufacturing costs continue to rise due to labor shortages and persistent increases in electricity and fuel prices, further compressing profit margins.
4. Under the environment of high inflation and high interest rates, combined with geopolitical instability and frequent conflicts, consumer confidence continues to be affected. High oil prices will crowd out purchasing power, and consumers are already showing signs of trading down or delaying purchases, leading to weak demand in the mid- and low-end bicycle markets, inventory reduction pressure, and price competition. The Company must closely monitor future sales and inventory reduction trends.
5. In recent years, governments around the world have supported green transportation. With advances in electric technology and increasing consumer demand for eco-friendly transportation, high-end and electric-assisted bicycles (e-bikes) have developed rapidly and have become a new growth niche for the industry. The integration of bicycles with AI smart technology and the Internet of Things may also drive another wave of innovation and create a new growth opportunity.
6. The value of traditional bicycles lies in frame geometry and mechanical integration, whereas the development of e-bikes shifts the core and product value toward electronic and software ecosystems. Industry leaders such as Bosch and Shimano have built closed systems integrating motors, batteries, software, and certification, thereby controlling the right to define standards and capture value. Taiwan has top-tier product design and assembly capabilities, but still lacks a motor system platform with global influence. If it continues to remain in the OEM assembly segment, it will face the risk of becoming marginalized in the industry.

7. Under the global trend toward environmental, social, and governance (ESG) promotion, the bicycle industry faces more challenges and opportunities. The industry must actively respond to requirements from governments and customers across multiple dimensions, promoting ESG transformation and the establishment of green supply chains, but this also raises governance and implementation costs, such as those related to human rights, renewable energy, and recycled aluminum.

With the above internal and external changes and impacts, the Company strongly believes that challenges are definitely accompanied with opportunities. Through strong management and continuous advancement, we will grasp market demand to reflect our sales & operations. The Company is optimistic of its future development, and will continue to achieve great performance in return for the support of the shareholders. We earnestly request every shareholder to continue to support us, for the continued growth of the Company. Thank you!

We wish you all good fortune and great health.

(II) Industry Overview:

1. Industry Situation and Development:

Our country has always been known as the “kingdom of bicycles”. The quality of exported bicycle products has been recognized internationally. Although in 2000, the pressure of rising production costs in Taiwan caused the supply chain to move out to the mainland, Southeast Asia and other emerging countries, significant results have been achieved in mastering key technologies and achieving independent supply of key components through the promotion of A-team and collaborative development with customers, the improvement of production technology, the division of labor between operations and production bases and other measures between industries, enabling the industry cluster formed in Taiwan to play an important role in the global bicycle supply.

How to strengthen global presence and division of labor to become an integrator of global resources is the most important issue of the current industry.

Moreover, the bicycle industry in our country has always been export-oriented. Therefore, the prosperity and decline of the industry is deeply affected by the global economic cycle. After the financial turmoil in 2008, the recovery of the economic stimulus created the prosperity of the bicycle demand industry. From 2015, factors such as the impact of shared bicycles, tariff barriers in various countries, Sino-US trade disputes, and the loss of cost advantages of production bases in the mainland have caused the entire industry to suffer a greater impact. The solid operating structure accumulated by the bicycle industry for many years has ensured the stable operation. Despite the continuous huge impact to the global economy by COVID-19 epidemic in 2021 and 2022, with governments of various countries continuing to introduce various subsidies and encouragement measures to promote epidemic prevention, bicycles have become the best solution for commuting and fitness exercise during the epidemic. After the epidemic, the demand in the consumer market has skyrocketed, creating a new normal for bicycle demand. In addition, the introduction of E-BIKE electric vehicles has brought a new wave of growth. The overall bicycle industry is expected to create prosperity successively.

In the following years, the bicycle industry faced multiple challenges, including slower-than-expected inventory reduction, inflation-driven cost pressures, geopolitical risks, trade barriers accompanied by supply chain adjustments, and the increasing demand for ESG and sustainable development. Due to the impact of geopolitical tensions and trade barriers, customers have been seeking diversified sources of supply to mitigate the risk of supply chain disruptions. As a result, companies have gradually shifted production bases to other regions to reduce tariff costs and be closer to end markets. This has led to a more regionalized bicycle supply chain, while also introducing greater operational uncertainties.

Looking ahead to 2026, the industry will enter a completely new competitive framework. The focus of corporate competition will shift from a single manufacturing capability to overall “system capabilities” — including product design, supply chain integration, regulatory compliance, data application, and brand management. At the same time, sustainability has shifted from an added value to a basic threshold, and carbon accounting, supply chain transparency, and human rights standards are rapidly becoming essential requirements for entering international markets.

2. The Relationship Between Up-, Mid-, and Down-stream Supply Chain Services:

Every bicycle needs to be assembled from the main and secondary parts such as the frame, front fork, transmission/shift, brake, handle/seat riser, etc. Each part is indispensable, and the bicycle industry can therefore be divided into finished bicycle industry and part industry. Because of the large number of parts, the characteristics of shall be collaborated between the industries so that a close supply relationship is established between upstream and downstream.

The bicycle part manufacturing industry covers metal, rubber, carbon fiber, electric control and other materials. Therefore, the technical development, market supply and market demand of the industry can drive the development of related fundamental industries and peripheral industries but are also interactively influenced by international material market, exchange rate, transportation and other factors.

3. Product Development Trends and Competition Landscape:

Product development trend: The use of bicycles will have different applications and different consumer preferences due to differences in regional, national and economic development. Therefore, consumers show a differentiated preference for the use of bicycle products. The differences in bicycle type demand and finished product unit price also affect the trend of product development and manufacturing. Currently, the design of bicycle products brings about corresponding bicycle types according to the needs of commuting, sports and leisure, competition and other functions. Furthermore, in response to the versatility and diversification, materials for the main parts shall be so used to satisfy the demand for robustness, durability, safety and light weight. The design also develops towards light weight, improved user experience, differentiation and personalization of the overall product.

In addition, energy conservation, carbon reduction, and environmental protection have become a global trend. Regulations have been formulated successively in various countries to limit carbon emissions, encouraging bicycle riding and the establishment of special lanes for bicycles. Non-polluting and zero-carbon-emission bicycles have also become the best solution for urban commuting and tourism. A large number of riders have been cultivated, driving the continuous growth of bicycle demand. In recent years, under the policy to encourage the substitution of driving with bicycle commuting, electric bicycles equipped with power assistance are also sold well and have become the main products with the highest added value. As the industry pays more and more attention to the development and application of electric bicycles, and continues to launch new products, a new wave of buying demand has been also created.

As for the status of industrial competition: the bicycle industry in Taiwan has always focused on export sales. With the efforts of the entire industry, it has a leading international position in product design, quality and price competition, and enjoys a high market share. However, in terms of industrial competition, it needs the following breakthroughs: with regard to product sales, Taiwan has been unable to reach reciprocal tariff agreements due to delays in the negotiation of various bilateral or transnational free trade agreements, and the prevalence of trade protectionism in various countries, emphasizing local manufacturing, has caused Taiwan to be in an unfavorable situation in international industry competition in recent years, affecting the development of the future industry; in terms of product manufacturing, the layout of production bases was based on the model of taking orders in Taiwan and production in mainland in the past. Due to the rise of the red supply chain, mainland-owned factories have greatly increased investment in production capacity through national support and local competitive advantages, and overcapacity has made the industry increasingly competitive and affected the market layout. This makes Taiwan's bicycle industry, with most factories in the mainland, face many challenges. In addition, due to the impact of high tariffs under trade barriers, major customers have successively transferred the orders of export to the United States and the Europe to Taiwan or required the production in other Southeast Asian countries. In the follow-up industrial development, the first step is to adjust the constitution and upgrade the industry. In addition to increasing the expansion of the domestic market, the added value of the product itself must also be increased to open the competition gap through differentiation.

3. Future Market Supply and Demand and Prospect:

The bicycle is a mature product that has been developed for more than a hundred years. As a necessity in human civilization, it is used in transportation, commuting, and cargo transportation. In the past, it was an important carrier. The product development over a century has also maintained a certain market demand. In recent years, with the concept of energy conservation and environmental protection, the emphasis on health and leisure, and government policy encouragement, more emerging riding populations have been created. The emphasis on vehicle performance and user experience has increased the added value to the industry and effectively boosted product unit prices and profitability. However, as the development of the industry has promoted successive expansion of production capacity and increased market price competition, the bicycle industry, highly dependent on exports, is currently continuing to work hard to effectively maintain market competitiveness and further increase market demand and increase product added value. This is a direction for sustained efforts.

This will further consolidate the Company's customer resources and our stable profitability and reinforce the reputation score and the marketing niche. Moreover, the private brand has gradually built an international brand image after years-long efforts.
    - D. With the management reform and upgrade, the Company's subsidiaries with investment in Mainland China focusing on manufacturing have experienced transformation and achieved success in domestic and foreign sales, which has also positively improved the Company's profits.

(2) Responsive action for unfavorable factors:

- A. In recent years, the bicycle market has attracted much attention to its quick growth from different countries, more investing manufacturers in Mainland China, India and the emerging Southeast Asian countries have leveraged their cheap cost to attack the market, and the market competition tends to grow fiercer and fiercer.
- B. The soaring raw material prices in the international market and the continuous increase in various production costs have posed a pressure on the control of operating costs.
- C. European and American countries adopt dumping protection strategies for imported products, which in turn affect significant price fluctuations, delivering an unclear impact on the world economic situation and representing an indirect uncertain factor that can't be ignored. This will also affect the operating revenue of the Company to some extent.

To alleviate the impact from the aforesaid unfavorable factors, the Company will continuously promote automatic equipment to maintain the competitive edges. Moreover, the Company will actively develop new products with high added values to avoid the price competition and earn a bigger profit. #### IV. Effect upon financial operations of any major capital expenditures during the most recent fiscal year: None

(I) The use of capital expenditures and sources of funds:

The above sources of funds are all financed by the Company's equity fund.

(II) Expected benefits:

Expected benefits include: expansion of production plants and intelligentization of production equipment, improvement of the flow of space in the plant, increase in production efficiency and product quality, strengthening of the technical content, and effective monitoring of the production; improve in management and decision-making efficiency in response to market demand, in order to benefit the overall planning and operational development of the Company.

V. The Company's reinvestment policy for the most recent fiscal year, the main reasons for the profits/losses generated thereby, the plan for improvement, and investment plans for the coming year

(I) The Company's investments are for long-term investment purposes, focusing on its core business, and prudently responding to market changes to steadily promote operational improvement and transformation strategies, thereby strengthening sustainable operations.

(II) Main Reasons for Profit or Loss and Improvement Plan

1. Ever Glory Machinery (Kun Shan) Co., Ltd. Mainland China: Due to fierce price wars launched by manufacturers in mainland China and elsewhere in the low-to-mid-range market leveraging their cost advantages, coupled with numerous challenges to the overall economy, operating costs increased, significantly squeezing profit margins. Profitability in 2025 was below expectations. Efforts will be focused on developing new products, strengthening product technology, and enhancing competitiveness to increase profitability.
2. The US subsidiary, dedicated to high-end bicycle-related products and channel expansion: In 2025, due to the new US government's policies and tariffs, the economic environment remained uncertain and presented multiple challenges. Profitability will increase as the market expands further.

3. In line with the Group's operational planning and investment structure adjustments, a 49% stake was acquired in Mikeway Co., Ltd. (a professional anode production line company), a subsidiary of BoMeng Technology Co., Ltd., in 2025. Profitability in 2025 was below expectations due to contraction in industrial operations. Profitability will increase as the market recovers and costs are reduced.
4. In order to comply with the Group's overall capital planning and effectively utilize the Group's funds, Chief Venture Capital Corporation y carried out a cash capital reduction and returned share payments in December 2025. Its investment strategy was appropriate, and investment income was recognized in 2025.

(III) Investment Plan for the Next Year: The Company will expand its production plant and increase production capacity, continuously purchase intelligent automated production equipment, and upgrade and optimize existing equipment to improve efficiency.

VI. Risk analysis and assessment

- (I) Impacts of interest and foreign exchange rate fluctuations and inflation on Company's profit and loss and future countermeasures:

The Company does not have loans, so changes in interest rates pose no significant impact on the Company's interest expenditures; in the exchange rate conversion in 2025, the foreign currency exchange gains in consolidated statement was about NT$20,563 thousand, mainly because the foreign currency exchange rate was greatly affected by international economic fluctuations; despite changes in costs of raw materials, the Company's cost is under appropriate control, and the cost is reflected in a timely manner, without no significant impact on profit and loss. On the whole, the Company will consider its changes at any time in the future and make appropriate hedging to reduce the impact on profit and loss.

- (II) Policies for high-risk or high-leverage investments, fund lending to other parties, endorsements, guarantees, and financial derivatives transaction, explanation for the gains or losses generated thereby, and future countermeasures:
