Not taking it on Annapurna for Nidhi's behaviour: Centre

Govt Denies CM Claim That She Was Told Late About PM Programme

Akhilesh Singh
@timesgroup.com

New Delhi: The flight between the Modi regime and the Mamata Banerjee government in West Bengal continued on Tuesday with the Centre strongly rebutting the Trinamool Congress boss's claim that she could not participate in the review meeting chaired by the PM to assess the damage caused by Cyclone Yaas because she was informed about Narendra Modi's visit and engagements quite late.

The government also refuted Banerjee's claim that the PM had allowed her to leave without attending the meeting. Responding to the two claims made by Banerjee to deny she was rude to the PM, sources at the Centre said, "The PM's visit was to assess damage due to cyclone Yaas, so it could not be finalised before the visitation. In fact, similar timeline was followed when the PM visited Bengal against the presence of leader of opposition Subhendu Adhikari."

Sources maintained that Banerjee boycotted the meeting to protest against the presence of leader of opposition Subhendu Adhikari.

last year after cyclone Amphan. This time, both Odisha and Bengal were informed at the same time. However, Odisha managed the programme very well despite the being the PM's first stop."

Sources rejected Banerjee's assertion that she had cut short her engagements to participate in the PM's meeting and maintained that she boycotted the meeting to protest against the presence of leader of opposition Subhendu Adhikari. Once a trusted aide of Banerjee, Adhikari crossed over to BJP after the polls and went on to defeat the CM.

Rejecting Banerjee's statement that she had waited to meet the PM, sources said Modi landed at Kalkanda at 1.59pm and Banerjee landed at Kalkanda at 2.10pm.

"It's clear it was the PM who was made to wait for Mamata Banerjee as he landed much before her. This was also confirmed by a TMC MP who tweeted that there was no big deal in the PM being kept waiting," a source said, referring to TMC MP Motuola Moitra's tweets.

Sources said while the CM walked 500 metres to reach the building where the PM was holding the review meeting, she had left by 2.35pm without, as required by protocol, taking the PM's meeting. Sources also added that the Centre was taking its ire out on former Bengal chief secretary Alapan Bandopadhyay.

Denying that the Centre had acted unilaterally and was being vindictive towards Bandopadhyay, who after opting for retirement has joined the Bengal government as advisor, sources said, "The order is perfectly constitutional since the chief secretary is an All India Services officer. He chose to ignore his constitutional duties, as a result of which no presentation was given to the PM and no officer of the Bengal government attended the PM's review meeting."

They added that the very fact that Bandopadhyay was given extension at the Bengal government's instance showed that the Centre was not acting in a partisan manner. Similarly, Bandopadhyay taking retirement was evidence that Banerjee and her government knew that they were on a weak kick in Bengal.

Meanwhile, to have learned that the department of personnel and training (DoPT), to whom Bandopadhyay was directed to report first on Monday and then on Tuesday, may not initiate disciplinary action since he retired on Monday, making the order asking him to report to DoPT for placement of his services at the Centre, null and void.

'Govt may file criminal case if ex-SS's explanation isn't found satisfactory'

Sources indicated if the Bengal ex-chief secretary's explanation is not found satisfactory, registration of a criminal case would be the next course of action. Pointing to Section 51 of the DM Act, 2005, which lays down penalties for those who refuse, without reasonable cause, to comply with a direction given on behalf of the Centre or national executive committee (apex body for disaster management), the notice said Bandopadhyay had disobeyed binding directions. "By this act of obtaining himself (Bandopadhyay) from the review meeting taken by the Prime Minister, who is also the chairman of National Disaster Management Authority (NDMA), has acted in a manner tantamounting to refusing to comply with lawful directions of the central government," said the notice dated 51/06 of the DM Act, the notice said.

A damaged beach near Kolkata after cyclone Yaas hit Bengal.

On reaching Kalkanda Air Force station for the scheduled review with the chief minister and chief secretary, the PM waited for 15 minutes in the meeting room for officers of the state government to arrive. "In view of the absence, chief secretary was called by an official as to whether they wanted to participate in the review meeting or not... thereafter, chief secretary, government of West Bengal, arrived along with the chief minister inside the meeting room and left thereafter immediately," the notice said. An offence under Section 51 may be initiated against him if he refused to comply with the refusal to comply with directions has resulted in loss of lives or imminent danger thereof. Officials in Kolkata indicated that "a proper reply to this would be sent in due time". The original meeting between the PM and the CM was not convened under disaster management law, they added. The Bengal CM, in a five-page letter to PM Modi on Monday, had mentioned that any causal link between the "unconstitutional, unprecedented, vindictive" transfer and the Kalkanda developments would be "sacrificing public interest at the altar of misplaced priorities".

Neither the Bengal government nor Bandopadhyay reacted to the notice on Tuesday. Former state chief secretary Basudeb Banerjee said Bandopadhyay would have to "use legal aid to reply to this himself". "But this is not related to his service conditions and should be dealt with separately," he added.

Meanwhile, to have learned that the department of personnel and training (DoPT), to whom Bandopadhyay was directed to report first on Monday and then on Tuesday, may not initiate disciplinary action since he retired on Monday, making the order asking him to report to DoPT for placement of his services at the Centre, null and void.

Armyman held for 'sexual assault' on train

Kolhapur: Police have arrested a 33-year-old Army man allegedly assaulted to sexual abuse an eight-year-old girl on the Goa-Nizamuddin Express on Monday. The man allegedly flogged the girl out of the train when she sought for help. However, she suffered only a fractured leg and some injuries. The alleged incident took place between Satara and Lonand railway stations around 1.30am. Pune railway police superintendent Sandeep Patil said the girl's father is a retired Navy man. The family had boarded the train at Vasco for New Delhi. "Around 1.30am, the accused picked up the girl while she was asleep and took her to the toilet. She started crying for help. The Armyman dragged her out and flogged her out of the train. Thankfully, the train was slow and she survived," Patil said.

6-year-old complains to PM on 'too much work'

New Delhi: Jammu & Kashmir Lieutenant Governor or Manoj Sinha took note of a six-year-old girl's video complaint to PM Narendra Modi about too much homework, asking the education department to come up with a policy to lighten up on the burden of schoolwork. Late on Monday, Sinha tweeted the video of the girl, where she said she was tired of schoolwork. "The video which has gone viral shows the Kashmiri girl complaining about her homework classes, which start at 10am and continue till 2pm. The girl begins her complaint by addressing the PM, 'Assalam Aleykum Modi Saab, this is a girl speaking. I am six years old. I want to tell you about Zoom classes,' she says. "Why do teachers assign so much work to small children, who are in Class 6 and 7, should be given more work," she can be seen saying. The video has over 60k views on Twitter and has also been shared on several Facebook pages. The girl's class drew several comments on social media. "So adorable. But it's a matter of fact that the duration of online classes makes children tired," wrote a user.

Family charged in ₹11 crore DeMon case

New Delhi: The Enforcement Directorate has filed a charge sheet against a business family before a special court in Hyderabad accusing the family members of allegedly diverting ₹11 crore in their accounts after the announcement of demonetisation on November 8, 2016. They operated Musaddilal Gems and Jewels Pvt Ltd and Vaishnavi Pvt Ltd Ltd firms in Hyderabad and deposited huge cash by generating fictitious sales invoices. They also helped others to convert their black money by buying bullion from them. Forty others have also been charged and all have been charged under PMLA. "They created around 5.6 fictitious sales invoices attributing fake sales during the relaxation period between 8 pm to 12 pm and deposited ₹11 crore in their accounts," ED said.

9-year-old boy dies in mother's arms before Andhra court could hear mercy-killing plea

Sandeep Raghavan

Tirupat: In a tragic turn of events, a nine-year-old boy suffering from prolonged illness breathed his last while returning home from Punganur court where his mother went to file a mercy-killing petition on Tuesday. The boy, identified as Harsha Vardhan from Beerajipalli village under Chowdepalli mandal in Chittoor district, developed complications while he was being taken back from the court and breathed his last in the hospital. He was the only child of the family.

Harsha had met with a near-fatal accident about four years ago and was bedridden since then. "Following the accident he used to suffer bleeding from his brain and spine bone or from the impact and he was in a vegetative state," said F. Aruna, his mother.

FAMILY'S ONLY CHILD

continued to bed since then. We approached many doctors and hospitals, but all of them said the bleeding disorder he suffered due to the accident has no cure," said G Aruna, his mother. Despite their limited resources, the family tried their best to provide the best possible treatment to Harsha. His father, farmer G. Mani, even sold off some land and took his only son to hospitals in Tirupat, Vellore and some other cities. "We spent over ₹4 lakh and approached several doctors and hospitals over the last four years, but there was no improvement in his condition," she added. Having run out of money and hope, Aruna was advised by one of her relatives to cross the local court seeking help for treatment of her son or accord the necessary permission for his mercy killing as she could not bear to see the pain and agony of her only child. For the past two days, the helpless mother had been doing the rounds of Punganur court to file the mercy killing petition. On Tuesday, Aruna again came to the court with her son and after failing to file the petition, was returning home in an auto-rickshaw when he started bleeding all of a sudden and died in her arms. "I thought I could save my son by approaching the court. But he passed away in my arms," the inconsolable mother said.

Army seeks partner for 'Make in India' futuristic tanks

New Delhi: The Army now wants advanced tanks and awe capabilities in the shape of futuristic main battle tanks, with a wide array of weapons, missiles and protection systems as well as 'niche' technologies like 'artificial intelligence' and 'see-through armor' for the crew, reports Rajat Pandit.

The Army has sought response of foreign armament companies or OEMs (original equipment manufacturers) for the proposed mega 'Make in India' project for technology of "future ready combat vehicles (FRCVs)" in a phased manner. The global RFI (request for information) specifies the Army's explicit intention of the FRCVs by 2030 under the 'strategic partnership' route with 'comprehensive technology transfer, including detailed design manufacturing know-how, to the Indian partner. The FRCVs will remain in service for the next 40-50 years as the Army's main battle tank, it says.

In conformity with the emerging future threat spectrum and technological advancements, the 'new state-of-the-art' tank should be able to operate in varied terrains, adds the RFI. The RFI is a replacement of the current main battle tank, the Arjun tank. The Army has for long resisted induction of the tanks, which contends that maintenance and spares' issues.

New govt rules 'gag' officers retired from intel, security depts

New Delhi: The Centre on Tuesday revised its pension rules to make it mandatory for any retired government employee who has worked in an intelligence or security-related organisation to seek prior permission from the head of the organisation before making any publication pertaining to domain of the organisation or any sensitive information the disclosure of which could prejudicially affect the sovereignty, integrity or security of India.

The amendment in Rule 6 of Central Civil Services (Pension) Rules, 1972 — which deals with grave misconduct on part of a pensioner and restriction against such misconduct — that introduces this condition doesn't have a time bar in terms of post-retirement publication. It appears to be aimed at checking incidents of retired officials, including those who have held the organisations like Intelligence Bureau or RAW, spilling the beans on working of the agencies or even sensitive operations, in books or by their author post-retirement. Some of the books have ended up creating controversies. Any grave misconduct, if proven against the pensioner, can lead to his/her pension being withheld or withdrawn, either in full or in part.

NBF hails SC stand on misuse of anti-money laundering law to gag media

New Delhi: The News Broadcasters Federation on Tuesday welcomed the Supreme Court's observation on authorities misusing the colonial-era sedition laws to gag and muzzle the media against broadcasting any criticism in public interest of authorities in power.

In a statement, NBF said fair and honest criticism forms the backbone of democracy. "NBF heretofore reiterates and urges the Government of India to immediately set up an independent neutral agency to probe into any allegations of professional misconduct by journalists, executives, and owners of news media company in order to prevent selective harassment by state authority and to ensure freedom of press."

Court bench comprising Justices D Y Chandrachud, L Nageswara Rao, and S Ravindra Bhat, had observed that the "ambit and parameters of the provisions of Sections 124A, 124B and 505 of IPC 1860 would require interpretation, particularly in the context of right of the electronic and print media to communicate news, information and rights, even those that may be critical of the government. The bench was hearing petitions by TVS and AIB, who had challenged the FIR charges against broadcasting news and violating the provisions of Andhra Pradesh government and its CM. "We

'10-15% White Goods Shops Open in May'

Only 10-15% of white goods shops were open this May while footfalls in those stores were as low as 5-8% due to restricted store timings, said Kamal Nandi, president of apex industry body Consumer Electronics and Appliances Manufacturers Association (CEAMA). Several states had also restricted sales of non-essentials through e-commerce.

The country's largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki sold 32,903 units last month, nearly a quarter of the 138,879 units sold in April 2020. Homegrown auto majors Tata Motors and Mahindra & Mahindra (M&H) saw new vehicle sales plunge 40% and 56% on a month-on-month basis to 15,181 units and to 8,000 units, respectively.

"In May 2021, the company shut production from 1st May through 16th May so as to divert oxygen from industrial use for medical purposes," Maruti Suzuki said in a statement.

Toyota Kirloskar Motor, which had announced a maintenance shutdown at its facilities at the end of April, sold 707 units last month, a 50% decrease over the previous month. "Last month witnessed no production at our plants in Bidadi as well as minimal sales owing to the much-needed restrictions & sporadic lockdowns in different parts of the country," said Naveen Soni, senior vice-president, Toyota Kirloskar.

In the commercial vehicle segment, Tata Motors sold 9,371 units last month, down by more than a third sequentially, while Ashok Leyland sales plunged 66% over April. "Tarun Pathak, research director at Counterpoint Research, said decline in both demand and supply led to a sharp fall in smartphone sales in May."

"Phone buying was surely not the priority of customers dealing with the deadly virus and abstaining from venturing out. Meanwhile, manufacturing activity was also majorly disrupted because of worker health issues," he said.

The latest handover statistics in India including Foxconn, Wistron, Oppo, Vivo and Samsung had to curtail their production capacity by up to 50% this month due to labour shortage and to avoid building inventory amid demand slowdown.

Rajeev Nair, senior analyst at research firm Strategy Analytics, said that online channels would account for over 55% share of all sales in the ongoing quarter as offline stores were the worst affected with consumer footfalls dropping sharply in malls and marketplaces.

He expects smartphone sales at roughly 27 million in the current quarter through June, compared with some 38 million in the January-March quarter, with some demand picking up as the unlock activity starts in major states.

K.M.A. Nandi, who is also the business head at Godrej Appliances, also expects demand for consumer electronics products to pick up in June.

June looks better than May even though several states have extended lockdowns, but restrictions are getting relaxed. But we expect the month will end with at least 75-80% of the market being open for sales with infection rates dropping down in most states," said Nandi.

Automobile companies also expect a similar recovery trend this month and the quarter through August.

"With the cases coming down and gradual opening up of markets, we foresee stronger demand rebound. We are working closely with our supplier partners to manage supply chain issues and meet the market demand," said Vivek Nakra, chief executive officer, automotive division, M&M.

Toyota Kirloskar Motor's Soni added that the overall market situation as well as consumer sentiments are better than May 2020 and expects "pent-up demand" and the demand for personal mobility to drive sales once the markets open.

He pointed to the company's "very healthy number of pending orders" and insignificant order cancellations. "However, we will be able to take a better shot of the situation once the restrictions are relaxed."

Hemant Sikka, president (farm equipment sector) at M&M, said that the spread of Covid infection to the rural markets had led to stringent lockdowns, leading to deferment of tractor purchase and limited operations at dealerships.

"While state-specific lockdowns and localised restrictions continue, it is heartening to see the Covid cases reducing sharply. This is leading to sharp improvement in farmer sentiments and green shoots of recovery are visible, especially since the last week, as farmers start preparing their land for upcoming Kharif crop season," he said.

Behavioural Changes

The domestic rating agency revised its growth forecast to 8.9-9.5% for the current fiscal year from 10-10.5% earlier.

"The reimposition of lockdown measures along with behavioural changes for fear of contagion are curbing economic activity and mobility which will delay India's economic recovery," Moody's said in a report on Tuesday. It had earlier pared the growth forecast for FY22 to 9.3-9.8% from 13.7%.

In the first Covid wave, the rural economy had been impacted much as the case spread was low.

"With a more muted rural support (compared to last year), ongoing supply side disruptions (especially labour supply) and an extension of the lockdowns in major states, we expect GDP growth at 10% for FY22, revised down from our earlier estimate of 11.5%," HDFC Bank said in a report.

While all other assumptions remained the same, CARE Ratings moderated its projected FY22 growth to 8.8-9.8% from 9.2-10.2% earlier on account of the higher risk in FY21, said chief economist Madan Sabnavis.

Nomura, Barclays and QuantEco Research also cut their FY22 growth estimates at 10.8%, 9.2%, and 10%, respectively.

MONEY, FISCAL LEVERS

The sharp reduction in interest rates last year provided support, but that support is no longer available, given worries over prices.

"We do not expect any further monetary policy easing by the RBI immediately due to inflationary concerns," said Yes Bank, which lowered its FY22 growth estimate to 8.5% from 10.5% earlier.

"The government had stepped in last year with relief measures."

Still Not in Black & White

Under the circumstances, crypto exchanges may cut a deal to access the application programming interface (API) protocol of mid-sized banks to enable seamless fund movement between depositories and investors. Access to API would allow automatic debit and credit of funds.

However, for larger lenders, RBI's recent circular is more of a technical clarification which, according to them, does not quite put things in black and white. RBI did not come out with any guideline after the apex court set aside the regulatory ban imposed in 2018.

A lawyer advising banks said, "RBI has simply told banks to stop referring to the 2018 circular. The larger banks would try to sound out RBI before opening the doors to the crypto industry... banks feel there is an informal diktat from RBI to stay away from cryptos and that has not changed."

There are close to 1.5 crore crypto investors in India holding digital assets worth Rs 15,000 crore.

SIH, HDFC Bank, Axis Bank and ICICI Bank did not respond to emails from ET.

EXCHANGES EXPECT RESTRAINT
Cryptocurrency exchanges, on the other hand, think the RBI directive would help in lifting the payment restrictions and is the first positive step towards regulatory recognition of the industry.

"We expect banking services to resume immediately since assures but high fiscal deficits and the possibility of a ratings downgrade leaves little room to move in addition to the stimulus provided in the February budget.

"We do not expect the government to increase spending significantly compared with the budget plans as an attempt to shore up the economy," Moody's said.

"The government said it is assessing the impact of the pandemic on the economy."

"We are getting inputs, we need to take a call, we need to understand where the impact is, how much it is and so on," finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman had said last week when asked about a possible stimulus.

Industry has sought more support from the government.

"We feel that there is an urgent need for boosting demand through direct income support to the poor, to the urban poor, security cover for micro, small & medium Enterprises (MSMEs) and other high contact based services will be critical," said Uday Shankar, president of the Federation of Indian Chambers of Commerce & Industry (FICCI).

URGENT VACCINATION
Experts also highlighted the importance of ramping up vaccinations to boost activity and prevent a third wave as states relax restrictions.

While India had vaccinated 26 million people as of Monday, the health ministry said vaccination has received the second jab.

"The exuberance is likely to come in strongly in 2H FY21 by when we believe a critical mass of the Indian population will be vaccinated," said Pranjal Bhambhani, chief economist, HSBC Securities and Capital Market (India). HSBC expects 8% growth in FY22.

If the banking industry continues to clamp down on payments, crypto exchanges and their industry lobby may explore legal options.

According to Sumit Gupta, chief executive and co-founder of Conflux, the exchange is in talks with banks and hopes to see smoother systems soon.

"If the banking industry continues to clamp down on payments, crypto exchanges and their industry lobby may explore legal options," said Shivam Thakral, chief executive, BuyUcoin.

According to Sumit Gupta, chief executive and co-founder of Conflux, the exchange is in talks with banks and hopes to see smoother systems soon.
