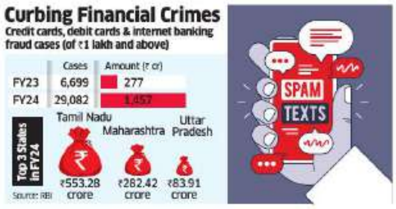
NON-PROFIT PLATFORM TO PREVENT PAYMENT FRAUD

PSU Banks to Hold Majority in Digital Payment Intel Body

Panel with members from public & pvt banks, RBI and MeitY to decide on structure, paid-up capital

Dheeraj Tiwari



New Delhi: State-run banks will take the lead in setting up the Digital Payments Intelligence Platform (DPIP) and hold more than 50% stake in the proposed venture aimed at harnessing advanced technologies to mitigate payment fraud risks.

The proposed entity, which will seek to enhance fraud risk management through real-time intelligence sharing and prevent fraudulent transactions, will be set up as a Section 8 company, or non-profit organisation, said people familiar with the matter.

A committee with members from both public and private banks, electronics and information technology ministry and the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) will determine the capital contribution, governance structure and minimum paid-up capital for the firm, they said.

The proposed committee will be set up through the Indian Banks' Association (IBA).

"We expect the final structure to be formalised by month-end. While state-run banks will be the majority shareholder, it is being ensured that there is representation from fintech companies, payment banks and also small finance banks," said an official, who did not wish to be identified.

Earlier, a committee set up by the RBI, headed by former National Payments Corporation of India chairman AP Hota, had recommended establishing DPIP as digital public infrastructure. "Discussions are on to identify the initial contributing partners and governance structure of the company. This will be a broad-based firm and will look to strengthen existing fraud risk management systems, besides addressing core issues like mule accounts and the need for pre-transaction intelligence," a bank executive said on condition of anonymity.

Mule accounts refer to bank accounts used by criminals for financial crimes, including money laundering.

According to experts it becomes difficult for banks to manage it on a standalone basis and hence there is a need for a market infrastructure platform such as DPIP.

"It will allow banks to get an ecosystem view of the frauds and put the right risk mitigants in place on a long-term basis," said Vivek Iyer, partner and financial services risk leader, Grant Thornton Bharat. "Also, with the data available on one platform, machine learning tools can also be applied to detect anomalies and patterns on a proactive basis and, with the increased data over a period of time, build AI capabilities."

According to Manoj Ajgaonkar, partner, digital, trust and transformation at Forvis Mazars, fraud prevention platforms themselves are now high-value targets and so the system needs to be protected with strong encryption, limited access and routine testing.

PM to Roll out ₹2,481 cr Mission to Boost Natural Farming Next Week

Centrally-sponsored programme aims to help 10m farmers, cover 750k hectares

Shambhavi Anand & Yogima Seth

New Delhi: Prime Minister Narendra Modi will next week formally launch a Rs 2,481 crore programme aimed at promoting sustainable farming on 750,000 hectares of land and increasing the income of 10 million farmers, a senior government official told ET.

Conceived by the Niti Aayog and run by the Ministry of Agriculture & Farmers' Welfare, the National Mission on Natural Farming (NMNF) is a centrally sponsored programme. The central government is contributing Rs 1,584 crore towards the scheme with states accounting for Rs 897 crore, the official said.

While the formal inauguration is on August 23, registration of farmers for the programme has already started.

"The Ministry of Agriculture & Farmers' Welfare will run the scheme over the next two years and scale it up eventually depending on the success and utilisation of the budgetary allocation," the official added.

The mission is designed to support farmers to reduce input cost of cultivation and dependency to externally purchased inputs.

The plan is to implement it in 15,000 clusters in gram panchayats and preference would be given to areas where natural farming if prevalent, in states like Andhra Pradesh, Chhattisgarh, Kerala, Gujarat, Himachal Pradesh, Jharkhand, Odisha, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh and Tamil Nadu.

The idea is to scientifically revive and strengthen agriculture practices towards sustainability and climate resilience, while ensuring healthy food for farmer families and consumers.

Under the mission, the government will set up need-based 10,000 bio-input resource centres to ensure easy availability of and accessibility to ready-to-use natural farming inputs for farmers.

Farmers will be provided with an easy and simple certification system and dedicated common branding to market their natural farming produce.

Real-time geotagged and referenced monitoring of NMNF implementation will be done through an online portal. Around 2,000 model demonstration farms for natural farming will be established at Krishi Vigyan Kendras, agricultural universities and farmers' fields.

Advancement and Self-reliance

From his post at the helm of India's defence establishment, Singh has directed game-changing reforms to boost defence manufacturing, promote self-reliance and foster innovation-led growth in the sector.

The defence manufacturing sector has seen a growth surge in the past few years, with annual production crossing the ₹1.5-lakh crore mark. The private sector has entered the field with companies making significant investments in research and development, besides forging partnerships with overseas technology firms.

Gadkari has been responsible for boosting India's road transport connectivity networks with numerous critical projects spanning the length and breadth of the country. His ministry is now pushing for the adoption of green fuel and reduction in road accidents, besides speeding up the construction of expressways and highways. The Maharashtra-based politician has shifted his focus to quality, from quantity, with regard to road construction.

Under Gadkari's leadership, national highways in India grew by 60% to 1,46,204 km from 91,287 km in 2014.

Going forward, the vision is to convert 25,000 km of two-lane highways into four lanes at an investment of ₹10 lakh crore, while continuing to add more access-controlled highways and expressways to build a world-class road network ahead of Viksit Bharat by 2047.

As commerce and industry minister, Goyal is steering the country's trade policy while pushing for reforms to ensure ease of doing business for the local industry. His role has become even more critical against the backdrop of the US President Donald Trump's tariff charge.

From ensuring a robust startup ecosystem and single-window clearances, Goyal has been pushing for steps to spur manufacturing. He's also led negotiations that culminated in India's trade accords with the UK, Australia, the UAE, Mauritius and the European Free Trade Association. He also steered the production linked incentive (PLI) schemes worth ₹1.97 lakh crore to lift the share of manufacturing in GDP to 25% by 2047, from about 17% currently.

Singh's ministry is also undertaking extensive reforms this year aimed at establishing a new defence acquisition procedure that promises expedited delivery of weapons to the armed forces. The minister has also been a driving force behind reducing India's dependence on arms imports. Flagship projects such as the advanced multirole combat aircraft, Astra missile system, fighter jet engine technology and long-range UAVs have been cleared under his direction. All this will go a long way in creating a robust defence and aerospace manufacturing ecosystem. This homegrown strength was visible during Operation Sindoor, with domestically manufactured weapons and systems being key to India's success.

Panel to Scrutinise Key Aviation PSUs

Our Bureau

New Delhi: A parliamentary panel will undertake a detailed examination of public sector undertakings (PSUs) in the aviation sector, including the Airports Authority of India (AAI), in the wake of the June 12 Air India plane crash. The exercise will entail a scrutiny of the financial health, corporate governance, skill and manpower and technical preparedness of the entities.

Besides the AAI, the key aviation PSUs include Hindustan Aeronautics Ltd, Pawan Hans Limited, National Aerospace Laboratories, Aeronautical Development Agency, AI Airport Services Ltd and Air India Engineering Services Ltd.

The Lok Sabha Committee on Public Undertakings, chaired by BJP leader Baijayant Panda, will also review performance and operations of more than a dozen PSUs in the defence and atomic energy sector, a major focus area for the government. India's annual defence production crossed the ₹1.5 lakh crore mark for the first time in 2024-25, up 18% year-on-year. Exports went up 12.04% to ₹23,622 crore from ₹21,083 crore during this period, with PSUs accounting for 77% of the total output.

The committee is expected to submit its report by the end of this financial year.
