Clarification: – Australian Financial Review article 9th October 2008

The Australian Financial Review today incorrectly reported that LandMark White Limited was close to securing a portfolio of property said to be worth up to $100 million. The article further incorrectly stated that the Executive Director of funds Management, Michael Este said that he was “confident” that the deal would succeed.

LandMark White is not in the process of currently negotiating the purchase of any property.

LMW Invest (a fully owned subsidiary of LandMark White) yesterday launched its PDS for the LMWI Diversified Property Fund, a “fund of funds” offering, that will invest through various wholesale property securities and unlisted direct property funds managed by external fund managers.

LMW Invest will be seeking investments from retail investors into the new fund which will in time generate an annuity style fee income for the business.

For further information, please call Michael Este on 02 8823 6353
